this volume contains the complete correspondence of two of the leading analytic philosophers of the late twentieth century david armstrong and david lewis comprising some 345 letters including letters to and from third parties this correspondence is at once a deep philosophical resource shedding new light on the philosophical development of two of the great late twentieth century philosophers and a record of the development of a philosophical friendship the letters are valuable not only for the light they shed on the background to many of armstrong s and lewis major publications but also for what they show us about the practice of philosophy the correspondence is a window into both the philosophical content of two leading thinkers minds and an exemplar of how philosophy of the highest level can be done this book offers a novel analysis of the widely used but ill understood technique of thought experiment the author argues that the powers and limits of this methodology can be traced to the fact that when the contemplation of an imaginary scenario brings us to new knowledge it does so by forcing us to make sense of exceptional cases
