a plume of dust spews out of the mountainside burying the valley in grey no one knows what it is no one knows whether it will stop the colony watches as the powder grows and they wait for the elders to decide their fate but no announcement comes the members are forced to decide whether to break convention and act on their own or wait for a decision they re not sure will come it takes this cataclysmic event for teka to realize that she wanted independence all along tiladon challenges his beliefs about what it takes to be head elder and a father desupon is forced to decide whether to continue living by the colony s standards or escape the images of death repeating in her mind is this the perfect opportunity for the members to change or is it the perfect excuse for them to run from a group they want no part of the imaginaries of northern landscape have not remained static in the era of ecological crisis but play a pivotal function within the geopolitics of visual representation such imaginaries can sanction those dominant discourses that frame environmental catastrophe as the consequence of undifferentiated human activity but it is argued they also have the capacity to represent a complexity and heterogeneity frequently absent from this broad discursive field the contributors to this volume engage with the practice curation and utilization of photography and other lens based media to examine the critical role of visual culture in shaping and interrogating conceptions of environmental catastrophe people pity me but mostly they feel envy i have all the luxury and freedom a girl my age could want something is happening to charlotte emerson like the fires that are ravaging the hills of los angeles it consumes her from the inside out but whether it is her eternal loneliness the memory of her brother the return of her first love or the brooding magnetic jared she cannot say what if it s something more something to do with the sudden tear in her perfect nails the heat she feels when she s with jared the blood rushing once again to her cheeks and throughout her veins for charlotte is a vampire witness to almost a century s worth of death and destruction but not since she was a human girl has mortality touched her in what way will you be transformed until now sustainable development is for government and industry at least primarily a way of turning trees into lumber tar into oil and critique into consent a way to defend the status quo of growth at any cost from the introduction in unsustainable oil facts counterfactuals and fictions jon gordon makes the case for re evaluating the theoretical political and environmental issues around petroleum extraction doing so he argues will reinvigorate our understanding of the culture and the ethics of energy production in canada rather than looking for better facts or better interpretations of the facts gordon challenges us to embrace the future after oil reading fiction can help us understand the cultural ecological crisis that we inhabit in unsustainable oil using the lens of alberta s bituminous sands he asks us to consider literature s potential to open space for creative alternatives
