many of the old methods of evangelism no longer work effectively today we need new methods to communicate the timeless message of the gospel in culturally relevant ways in a post christian post churched post reached world most christians have been poorly equipped to tell their friends about jesus dr chan combines the theological and biblical insights of classic evangelistic training with his own and hard won insights from missiology on contextualization cultural hermeneutics and storytelling every chapter is illustrated with real world examples drawn from over fifteen years of evangelistic ministry across the globe these are methods that really work with university students urban workers and professionals getting past the defensive posture that people have toward christianity so they can seriously consider the claims of jesus christ field tested and filled with unique fresh and creative insights this book will equip you to share the gospel in today s world and help as many people as possible hear the good news about jesus although the message of the gospel never changes our methods for communicating it need to adjust to an ever changing audience evangelism today helps believers whether individually or in groups share their faith in a culturally relevant way this book draws on insights from dozens of evangelists church leaders and educators to reveal present and future trends of evangelism in america it explores whether evangelism is still needed and in what form what the local church s role should be and where the biggest evangelistic opportunities are emerging readers in any occupation or stage of life will gain a renewed passion for spreading the message of the cross from this practical and straightforward book edwin b chappell d div 1853 was the sunday school editor for the methodist episcopal church south best known for his 1916 studies in the life of john wesley as early as 1935 dr chappell championed the need for christian education to be based not on theological presuppositions but on the new psychology of religion and the scientific approaches to human nature now a modern classic michael green s evangelism in the early church shows how the first christians worked to spread the good news to the rest of the world studying the new testament and church fathers green explores the earliest methods motives and strategies of spreading the good news he also considers the obstacles to evangelism using outreach to gentiles and to jews as examples of differing contexts for proclamation thoroughly informed by primary sources this book will help contemporary readers learn from the past and renew their own evangelistic vision this book captures the essence of what it means to advance the mission of the church through dynamic witness and evangelism it both inspires and issues a challenge to christians to move from passivity to an active ministry of bold proclamation the gospel is more than information about the death and resurrection of our lord it is an invitation to enter by way of personal faith into a relationship with the person referenced by our propositions our task as believers is to mediate saving communion with a personal being upon whose will our very existence is contingent it is precisely this personal aspect of our message the gospel as person that is in conflict with the late modern notions of the self and social discourse get real on evangelism in the late modern world describes how the late modern phenomena of existential anxiety social alienation and epistemic uncertainty have resulted in what some have called the loss of self it also identifies ways in which that loss obstructs both the presentation of and the reception of the gospel as person finally it shows how the gospel as person facilitates the recovery of the self and social discourse and how that message can be effectively presented in the late modern context most christians know they should be trying to tell their friends and family about jesus but in a post christendom world personal evangelism is viewed negatively it's offensive inappropriate and insensitive recent studies confirm that the majority of christians rarely evangelize worried they might offend their family or lose their friends in how to talk about jesus without being that guy author sam chan equips everyday christians who are reluctant and nervous to tell their friends about jesus with practical tested ways of sharing their faith in the least awkward ways possible drawing from over two decades of experience as an evangelist teacher and pastor chan explains why personal evangelism feels so awkward today and utilizing recent insights from communication theory cross cultural ministry and apologetics he helps you build confidence in sharing your faith and teaches you how to evangelize your friends and family in socially appropriate ways ten years on from their first book evangelism which way now which has become a valuable and much recommended resource mark ireland and mike booker aim to take people a step further making new disciples offers a practical approach based on careful theological reflection and years of hands on experience in local church leadership theological education and the national church the book is not so much a which guide to the available resources as a wrestling with the paradoxes of evangelism in a changing world backed up with plenty of stories and specific examples evangelism in a post christian culture is the challenge facing the church today alastair ferrie brings more than thirty years experience of preaching the gospel and sharing his faith one of the greatest needs of the growing church is a training program for the whole church in evangelism those engaged in ministry will find this work invaluable and those committed christians in the pews will find this book a framework which will revolutionize their effectiveness in evangelism many christians will admit to not knowing where to begin this book explains and outlines an approach that can be used effectively in sharing the gospel the material will also be useful for preaching and for use in bible discussion groups a companion volume to this work step by step aftercare for new christians is also published by iuniverse credit for cover ray ferrie the book begins with a discussion on worldview which explains the difficulty we often have in communicating the gospel with a world that has truly become post christian a five fold foundational christian worldview is put forward and contrasted with a darwinian model so prevalent in the world today this is followed by several chapters outlining an approach to evangelism based on the seven signs of john's gospel these things are written that you might believe the book is rounded off with several chapters with the theme i believe because these are arguments that the author has presented in many home bible studies to help people to see some reasons for believing the world is constantly presented with reasons for not believing and it is time for the church to step forward with some reasons for believing evangelism is a contested even conflicted word but churches are declining in numbers and resources what if we aren't thinking about evangelism in the right way culturally or theologically this book contextualizes evangelism in our late modern times and reimagines what the call to outreach means in today's world our sad times are made sadder by the realization that our all out pursuit of happiness has made us stressed anxious lonely and depressed says leading practical theologian andrew root the french thinker michel de montaigne taught us to focus on making ourselves happy but blaise pascal pointed out that we are creatures of soul as much as self so happiness does not satisfy root offers a vision for how a theology of consolation can shape a hopeful approach to evangelism we all need consolation others to care for us in our sadness if we can find such a minister and lean into our sorrow we will find the presence of jesus christ root uses a fictional church to show rather than tell us how consolation evangelism works for support he looks to the ministries of gregory of nyssa and his sister macrina jean gerson johann von staupitz and martin luther who all contend that consolation is central to our transformation into the life of god evangelism is at the core of christianity it is a life and death matter both for the salvation of individuals and for the continuing growth of the church although the message of the gospel never changes its means of communication must be continually modified to reflect the thought patterns and worldview of our changing culture reaching generation next is the perfect guide on how to effectively proclaim the gospel in today's postmodern culture both theological and practical it provides christian leaders and laypeople with a basic understanding of the essential aspects of evangelism and with foundational guidelines on how to evangelize veteran evangelist lewis drummond helps christians understand how and why today's generation thinks the way it does and offers in capsule form sensible answers and convincing reasons for faith while providing a basic theology of evangelism and stressing the important role of leadership the book's primary theme is that every believer must become an evangelist reaching generation next is a great resource for evangelism training classes each chapter concludes with discussion questions also included are sections on spiritual awakening movements evangelizing the disabled and surveys for churches and individuals provides a comprehensive look at the ways the first christians from the new testament period up until the middle of the third century worked to spread the good news to the rest of the world this book will both show contemporary readers what can be learned from the past and help renew their own evangelistic vision twenty first century american churches are struggling to maintain their membership much less increase in numbers a rising tide of secularism is spreading in our country that is influencing many generation y and z americans not to be actively involved in any church with the advance of atheism and secularism the effects of a secular media that is eroding family and moral values the increasing influence of non christian immigrants moving into our society and reproducing at a higher rate than other segments of our population never has there been a time when evangelism is more important in the u s culture refocusing on evangelism an examination of evangelism in the 21st century is designed to address the need for churches to go back to their roots to be evangelistic to unabashedly preach the christian message to our own people it warns that evangelism can only occur when there is commitment to preach the unadulterated gospel not diluting the gospel message in an effort to build the attendance at a local church while not disparaging foreign evangelism this book calls attention to the need to evangelize more successfully in our own country the word evangelism evokes strong reactions among christians conflict about what it is whether to do it how to go about it and the desired results divides churches demonstrating the need for new theologies and methods that address today s religiously pluralistic and secular contexts this book offers a comprehensive treatment of evangelism from biblical models to contemporary practice frances adeney shows that understanding different contexts and approaches to evangelism and accepting the views of others on this crucial topic can help replace the evangelism wars social action vs proclamation with a more graceful approach to sharing god s good news with the world accomplished author richard stoll armstrong speaks openly and honestly about how a pastor functions with evangelical sensitivity in the roles of visitor counselor teacher discipler administrator and public figure he describes the specific opportunities for evangelism in each of these functions ways are suggested in which pastors can lead conversations and group or class meetings that open up opportunities for discussion of faith questions
