thesis m a from the year 2005 in the subject american studies literature grade 1 o ernst moritz arndt university of greifswald language english abstract in mexican american chicano culture feminine archetypes from the mexican tradition play an important role for woman s subjectivity traditionally such archetypes epitomize catholic patriarchal constructions of womanhood idolized by the figures of the virgin of guadalupe la malinche and la llorona the most prevailing representations of female sexuality and motherhood evolve around the passive virgin the sinful seductress and the traitorous mother along the lines of chicana feminism the traditional definitions of these feminine archetypes can be seen as promoting an image of woman that is detrimental to female subjectivity although there are three figures these archetypes evoke a binary opposition that defines woman as either good woman or bad woman virgin or whore as such they limit and circumscribe the chicana s development of subjectivity but these cultural icons may also epitomize feminine power and hence provide the chicana with possible feminist role models to back up her emancipation chicana feminists have employed creative writing to counter the catholic patriarchal discourse on the virgin of guadalupe malinche and la llorona as they explore these cultural archetypes in their novels short stories and poems chicana feminists attempt to reveal the mechanisms by which the original images of these mythic figures have been subverted disempowered and distorted but most importantly they seek to deconstruct the virgin whore dichotomy by rewriting the mythic figures through a revision of existing myths chicana writers are able to create a feminist mythology that is rooted in cultural tradition but simultaneously serves as an act of resistance to the dominant discourse this master s thesis will explore the mythic figures of guadalupe malinche and la llorona in all wherever we turn we find creative practices and creative spaces creative organizations and creative subjects at work or in public places in media representations and in advertisements on social platforms in schools and universities there is a demand to be new and special conspicuous and singular how did this creativity complex and its imperative to be creative come about which terms and concepts enable us to understand its multiple and partly contradictory forms and processes where are its limits gathering and interweaving 40 short and incisive essays this companion maps investigates and illuminates the contemporary creativity complex in creative visions sociologist hannah wohl draws on more than one hundred interviews and two years of ethnographic research in the new york contemporary art market developing a sociological perspective on creativity through the analytic lens of judgment the artists she encountered range from those trying to land their first solo exhibition to those with several dozens of museum exhibitions she visited their studios and saw firsthand how they decided which works to leave unfinished or to destroy put into storage or exhibit she observed the installation of exhibitions in galleries assisted in selling artwork for a gallery and followed private collectors around art fairs and vip collector events moments of judgment whether by artists curators dealers or buyers led her to uncover that artistic practices are deeply sociological both because artists decisions are informed by their interactions with others and because artists decisions about their work affect the objects which circulate through the social world artists recognize that exhibitors and collectors prefer artists whom they deem to display a clear signature style wohl also explores judgment in art as part of the creative process evaluation she says is both a way that one judges how good a work is and how one makes decisions about producing work our understanding of creative work rests on these highly social dynamics wohl shows shedding new light on the production of cultural objects and prestige
