last year i addressed the netherlands comparative law asso ciation with the following question does comparative law exist at all my intention then was to flog the dead horse of the merger of comparative law and the sociology of law in presenting this voluminous collection of netherlands national reports to the eleventh congress of the international academy of comparative law i feel my misgivings giving way to the suspicion that comparative law indeed exists of course national reports do not as such prove the existence of comparative law it is the general reports together with the national reports which embody the comparative effort that is why the netherlands comparative law association took the initiative to propose the publishing of the materials on a subject to subject basis instead of publishing collections of national reports from a comparative legal point of view it is the topic that should form the basis of the publication and not the origin of the materials the general reporter for each topic should be prepared to take up the responsibilities of editing the volume and would have to be given the right to select those national reports which he considers to be useful both in regard to their quality and the relevance of the material to the basic problems in the questionnaire this proposal met with very favourable comments from the national committees and general reporters of some fifteen countries the present publication is a continuation of two earlier series of chronicles philosophy in the mid century firenze 1958 59 and contemporary philosophy firenze 1968 edited by raymond klibansky as with the earlier series the present surveys purport to give a survey of significant trends in contemporary philosophical discussion the need for such surveys has i believe increased rather than decreased over the last years the philosophical scene appears for various reasons rather more complex than ever before the continuing process of specialization in most branches the emergence of new schools of thought particularly in philosophical logic in the philosophy of language and in social and political philosophy the increasing attention being paid to the history of philosophy in discussions of contemporary problems as well as the increasing interest in cross cultural philosophical discussion are the most important contributory factors surveys of the present kind are a valuable source of knowledge about this complexity and may as such be of assistance in renewing the understanding of one's own philosophical problems the surveys it is to be hoped may help to strengthen the socratic element of modern philosophy the world wide dialogue or kommunikationsgemeinschaft so far six volumes have been prepared for the new series the present surveys in asian philosophy vol 7 follow the surveys in the philosophy of language and philosophical logic vol 1 philosophy of science vol 2 philosophy of action vol 3 philosophy of mind vol 4 african philosophy vol 5 and medieval philosophy part 1 2 vol 6
