returnees from wars and violent conflicts belong to their societies as much as any other distinct social group in an age of asymmetric warfare and highly ambiguous profiles of combat the veterans position is changing and is less clear than in the past veterans are either marginalized or considered a social and political precarity their self perception and identity are often burdened with uncertain return into their societies this volume brings together experts on veteran studies from various academic disciplines their views present a variety of sociological anthropological and military aspects on the lives and environments of contemporary veteran cultures based on findings from the first contemporary congress on returnees from diverse wars and interventions held in germany in july 2016 the contributions here compare the situations of veterans and their perception by society in different countries the main focus falls on the so far under researched german particular path into the normalcy of producing and then having veterans who as a new emerging social group start to build up their own associations and culture and gain political and socio cultural power of interpretation this process forms a contrast to those veteran cultures that can build on long and seemingly less broken traditions investigates the eu policy making process and why this process has taken major steps to advance environmental regulation in some areas and not others the book develops a framework emphasizing decision making modes which provide a more nuanced understanding compared to traditional eu theoretical approaches of how eu actors make decisions this book was written to inform the reader that a few selected far left ideas of today s democratic political party is simply poison for america or any nation for that matter as it leads to mass demonstrations and active shooter situations that are horrible in today s society in the mind of the author hopefully the reading of this book will turn one s mind away from the far left back to the moderate right and rational sanity smaller federal government and peace and tranquility for the american people between the years 1815 and 1945 europe achieved unrivaled global dominance only to see it shattered by two world wars this frenetic rise and fall was attended by immense societal change in 1815 europe remained largely agricultural and dependent upon horsepower by 1945 the power of the atom had been unleashed two industrial revolutions occurred in the interim the first founded upon coal iron and steam the second upon oil steel electricity and internal combustion the implications for humanity were profound this concise yet comprehensive study is divided into three sections in section one the map of europe emerges in its modern visage as unrestrained nationalist fervor gives rise to an assemblage of new nation states in section two the continent attains global hegemony as massive industrialization fuels a mad scramble for colonial markets and raw materials in section three a cauldron of national ethnic and class hatreds spawn the rise of totalitarianism and the overthrow of european hegemony in two calamitous world wars by tracing the events and undercurrents of this vital period in european history this book offers trenchant insights for the lay reader and the student of history alike
