perhaps villagers were the best natural critics of life under communism in eastern europe theirs is a perspective at once ironic satiric and filled with stoicism in these stories from macedonia meto jovanovski writes wittily against urban authorities whose agents are everywhere and nowhere and who conduct absurd modernizing campaigns such as shooting all the dogs in the village he writes tellingly of the indignities of queues telephones air travel and military conscription and like john berger he persuades us that it is often the villager who is most in touch with the deepest realities of life in flight to eternity for example it seems entirely natural that a man should gently make love to his dying wife a powerful scene of the sort hard to find in the brutal and sophisticated sexuality of modern literature
