new testament theology raises many questions not only within its own boundaries but also in relation to other fields such as history literary criticism sociology psychology history politics philosophy and religious studies but the overarching question concerns the relevance of two thousand year old writings in today s world how does one establish what is and is not relevant in the new testament how does one communicate the ancient ideas presented in an alien language alien time and alien culture to a contemporary audience this book is intended to serve as a methodological introduction to the field of new testament theology aimed at a range of readers undergraduate and seminary students clergy and laypersons interested in the relevance of scripture it is a guide which aims to help readers understand how practitioners of new testament theology have wrestled with the relationship between historical reconstruction of the new testament and its interpretation in the modern world medievalism the later reception of the middle ages has been used by many writers not just during the victorian period but from the renaissance to the present as a means of commenting on their own societies and systems of values until recently this self interest was used to distinguish between medievalism a selective often romanticised view of the past and medieval studies with its quest for an authentic middle ages the essays in this collection suggest that the search for knowledge of a real middle ages has always been a problematic one and that the vitality of the vision of medievalism is demonstrated by its constant adaption to current concerns
