a long awaited new collection of stories from one of scotland s most acclaimed writers a young man returns from london facing the prospect of reunion with a young daughter he s never met a woman recounts her family s doomed attempt to emigrate from poland to america 70 years before a creative writing tutor is shocked by the story of one of his students who is connected to a past atrocity in bosnia a former architect fights a losing battle with alcoholism and the ghosts from his past here is a new collection of brilliant stories from the multi award winning elder statesman of scottish literature exploring themes of poverty migration alienation accountability and alcoholism with an impressive depth and emotional range letters from soldiers to their families often provide prominent narratives of the civil war but what about the messages from the women who maintained homes and farmsteads alone all while providing significant emotional support to their loved ones at the front the letters and diaries of these eight women echo the ever growing horrors of the conflict and reveal the stories of the wisconsin home front twenty one year old emily quiner sought a way to join the war effort that would feed her heart and mind annie cox wrote to her pro slavery fiancé to staunchly defend her abolitionist principles sisters susan brown and ann waldo faced the unexpected devastation that each battle brought to families in such anxious hours jo ann daly carr places this material in historical context detailing what was happening simultaneously in the nation state and local communities civil war history enthusiasts will appreciate these enlightening perspectives that demonstrate the variety of experiences in the midwest during the bloody conflict these letters from a yeoman farmer in the confederate army to his wife in coosa county alabama will be of interest to historians not only for the light shed upon the life of the confederate soldier but also for frequent allusions to rural life and the operation of the farm in cotton s absence he enlisted at pinckneyville alabama on april 1 1862 and was paroled at talladega on may 25 1865 during the intervening years he saw action in tennessee and kentucky in the dalton atlanta campaign briefly again in tennessee then in georgia against the forces of sherman moving finally into south carolina these letters constitute an authentic record of a typical confederate soldier s experience journal of southern history those personal accounts resurrect the essential experience of children s work play education family relations and coming of age from their own perspectives steering a middle path between the myth of wholesome farm life and the reality of work that was often extremely dangerous riney kehrberg shows both the best and the worst that a rural upbringing had to offer midwestern youth a time before mechanization forever changed the rural scene and radio broke the spell of isolation down on the farm truancy was not uncommon and chores were shared across genders yet farm children managed to indulge in inventive play much of it homemade to supplement store bought toys and to get through the long spells between circuses in this charming thought provoking sequel to blown away herb payson s singular determination and self effacing humor are irresistible as he and his family make a pacific ocean passage in an old wooden sailboat
