the details of saint martin s argument contain a wealth of penetrating observations from which anyone with a serious interest in visual communication will profit journal of communication saint martin elucidates a syntax of visual language that sheds new light on nonverbal language as a form of representation and communication she describes the evolution of this language in the visual arts as well as its multiple uses in contemporary media the result is a completely new approach for scholars and practitioners of the visual arts eager to decode the many forms of visual communication visible signs explains semiotic terms and theories in relation to visual communication with illustrative examples taken from contemporary art and design this edition features new and revised content and includes 200 visuals created to illustrate the ideas discussed within the book the chapters in this book consist of selected papers which investigate the theme of myths today paying homage to the notion of myth as defined by roland barthes in the late 1950 s which provided a theoretical framework under which daily habits as well as consumer practices can be examined as socially constructed signs idealized through verbal narratives while myth is a type of speech it is also a type of image typeface cinema photography sports online networks politics tv shows sound and fashion can all serve as groundwork for mythical discourses under this framework the book explores myths today in the context of global networks globalisation visuals and mass communication the interdisciplinary nature of the book provides a platform for discussion and research broadens the scope of semiotic and visual communication thinking and challenges the boundaries of various disciplines

this book is the result of selective research papers that were presented at the first international conference on semiotics and visual communication at the cyprus university of technology in november 2011 the conference was structured around the theme from theory to practice and brought together researchers and practitioners who study and evaluate the ways that semiotic theories can be analysed perceived and applied in the context of various forms in visual communication within a semiotic framework the book explores research questions under five main thematic areas architectural spatial design design for three dimensional products design for print applications design for screen based media pedagogy of visual communication and visual arts this volume will be an asset for people who have an interest in semiotics not only from a theoretical and historical perspective but also from an applied point of view looking at how semiotic theory can be implemented into educational research design and visual communication practice the book provides 25 essential contributions that demonstrate how the concepts and theories of semiotics can be creatively adapted within the interdisciplinary nature of visual communication the chapters in this book consist of selected papers that were presented at the 2nd international conference and poster exhibition on semiotics and visual communication at the cyprus university of technology in october 2015 they investigate the theme of the conference culture of seduction the seduction of culture and look at seduction as in deception not sexual enticement but as a mechanism of attraction and appeal which has often been the case in many communication strategies and approaches used by mass and popular culture seduction has historic and increasing agency in visual communication the urgency to entice viewers is ever more powerful in difficult economic times in an increasingly hyper real world and designers are led to become exceedingly complicit in its strategies the contributions here cover a range of approaches from theoretical aspects of seduction in verbal and nonverbal communication public spaces design and meaning seductive strategies and advertising design as well as fashion representations and packaging design the chapters in this book consist of selected papers that were presented at the 3rd international conference and poster exhibition on semiotics and visual communication at the cyprus university of technology in november 2017 they investigate the theme of the third conference 'the semiotics of branding' and look at branding and brand design as endorsing a reputation and inhabiting a status of almost mythical proportion that has triumphed over the past few decades emerging from its forerunner corporate identity to incorporate advertising consumer lifestyles and attitudes image rights market research customisation global expansion sound and semiotics and 'the consumer as the brand' the word 'rebranding' currently appears to be bigger than its own umbrella definition from tribal markers such as totems scarifications and tattoos to emblems of power language fashion architectural space insignias of communal groups heraldic devices religious and political symbols national flags and the like a form of branding is at work that responds to the need to determine the presence and interaction of specific groups persons or institutions through shared codes of meaning
