more complex and imposing than any other vehicle in the british emergency services the fire engine has a long and interesting history the earliest water pumps had been developed by the eighteenth century basic manual pumps that had to be hauled around by people or horses and were often only used on fire insured premises in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries horse drawn steam powered fire engines and eventually motorised fire engines came to revolutionise firefighting offering far greater versatility and the brigades came to be run by the municipalities in this beautifully illustrated introduction eddie baker charts the history of fire engines and their variants and the increasingly complex equipment they have carried such as high rise ladders and high pressure hoses he also explains the wider history of the fire service and how the engines have been shaped by its needs and most importantly those of the firefighters themselves more than the document of a remarkable project buy me a mercedes benz shows how various forms of expert knowledge have been combined and interwoven to finally generate an unconventional breakthrough museum design providing insight into the various ideas experiences and ambitions behind the project this book allows visitors to take the museum home through photographs diagrams text and drawings this book explains the unique mercedes museum design model developed by un studio the digitally programmed three dimensional cross connected trefoil implementing this model has resulted in a building that radically breaks with many of today s architectural conventions a building that is highly complex but still maintains a strongly directional structure which provides many surprising perceptual experiences the sahel has become a focal point of international security interventions with external actors providing extensive security force assistance sfa to local military police and paramilitary forces securitizing the sahel analyzing external interventions and their consequences critically examines the rationale implementation and consequences of these efforts 2012 2024 with unique access to both military operations and strategy making in european capitals the author provides an innovative methodological approach exclusive material and a comprehensive perspective drawing on extensive fieldwork including participant observation of military operations and over 100 interviews with policymakers military personnel and security practitioners across the sahel and europe this book offers an unprecedented analysis of how sfa has shaped local security dynamics and broader geopolitical competition the book argues that sfa in the sahel is driven not just by regional security threats such as insurgency violent extremism and transnational crime but also by external actors strategic interests through a comparative analysis of bilateral france u s and multilateral eu un initiatives it demonstrates how sfa has been framed as the primary policy tool to manage instability securitizing the sahel offers both theoretical and empirical contributions to understanding sfa in fragile states it challenges prevailing frameworks provides critical insights for policymakers and highlights the unintended consequences of militarized external assistance in the sahel and beyond oxford studies in african politics and international relations is a series for scholars and students working on african politics and international relations and related disciplines volumes concentrate on contemporary developments in african political science political economy and international relations such as electoral politics democratization decentralization gender and political representation the political impact of natural resources the dynamics and consequences of conflict comparative political thought and the nature of the continent s engagement with the east and west comparative and mixed methods work is particularly encouraged case studies are welcomed but should demonstrate the broader theoretical and empirical implications of the study and its wider relevance to contemporary debates the focus of the series is on sub saharan africa although proposals that explain how the region engages with north africa and other parts of the world are of interest series editors nic cheeseman university of birmingham peace medie university of bristol and ricardo soares de oliveira sciences po paris
