this volume delivers a history of internationalism at the league of nations and the united nations un with a focus on the period from the 1920s to the 1970s when the nation state ascended to global hegemony as a political formation combining global regional and local scales of analysis the essays presented here provide an interpretation of the two institutions and their complex interrelationship that is planetary in scale but also pioneeringly multi local our central argument is that although the league and the un shaped internationalism from the centre they were themselves moulded just as powerfully by internationalisms that welled up globally far beyond geneva and new york city the contributions are organised into three broad thematic sections the first focused on the production of norms the second on the development of expertise and the third on the global re ordering of empire by showing how the ruptures and continuities between the two international organisations have shaped the content and format of what we now refer to as global governance the collection determinedly sets the cold war and the emergence of the third world into a single analytical frame alongside the crisis of empire after world war one and the geopolitics of the great depression each of these essays reveals how the league of nations and the united nations provided a global platform for formalising and proliferating political ideas and how the two institutions generated new spectrums of negotiation and dissidence and re codified norms as an ensemble the book shows how the league of nations and the united nations constructed and progressively re fashioned the basic building blocks of international society right across the twentieth century developing the new international history s view of the league and un as dynamic complex forces the book demonstrates that both organisations should be understood to have played an active role not just in mediating a world of empires and then one of nation states but in forging the many principles and tenets by which international society is structured the end of the cold war has allowed for the prospect of a new world order in which the united nations and other international actors may return to their post war mandate of maintaining international peace and security through collective action this book addresses the central question of sovereignty under the new regime which internal actions of states will justify intervention by the international community the unifying theme of these chapters written from a wide variety of national and cultural perspectives is the conflict between cultural relativism and human rights in the postmodern world eleven authors address these questions to determine the meaning and limits of national self determination after the fall of communism this book is essential reading for all who seek to understand the emerging international system of the twenty first century this book examines actors tools and issues associated with the changing nature of the environment in which the united nations operates the ways in which it has responded and might respond to technological and political problems and the questions and difficulties that arise for the world organization issues covered in the book include doctrinal questions on the use of force the regional dynamics of nuclear proliferation and the growing concern that nuclear order established by the npt may collapse or simply be overtaken by events publisher s description
