using the contemporary workings of property law in india through the lives and thoughts of middle class and poor women this is a study of the ways in which cultural practices and particularly notions of gender ideology guide the workings of law it urges a close reading of decisions by women that appear to be contrary to material interests and that reinforce patriarchal ideologies hailed as a radical moment for gender equality the hindu succession act was passed in india in 1956 theoretically giving hindu women the right to equal inheritance of their parents self acquired property however in the years since the act s existence its provisions have scarcely been utilized using interview data drawn from middle class and poor neighborhoods in delhi this book explores the complexity of women s decisions with regard to family property in this context the book shows that it is not passivity ignorance of the law naiveté about wealth or unthinking adherence to gender prescriptions that guides women s decisions but rather an intricate negotiation of kinship and an optimization of socioeconomic and emotional needs an examination of recent legal cases also reveals that the formal legal realm can be hospitable to women s rights based claims but judgments are still coded in terms of customary provisions despite legal criteria to the contrary

these days various trends are in vogue in the field of education and on the books on education but the most neglected field is of adult education and social education as india possesses the largest number of illiterate adult persons in the world the relevance of adult education is self understood the field of social education is also neglected and the general public is still unaware of the problems hovering over society and the modern days paradoxes as the globalization and industrialisation has set in the great social upheaval is in the offing we are witnessing the technological revolution information and communication revolution the revolution in the market and at the home this book tries to do justice with the problems in the field of adult education and social education it is a small but compact book which covers many aspects of adult education and social education it is hoped that this book will be liked by educators education administrators and the researchers in the field of education in recent years india has made impressive strides in increasing literacy rates and in enabling access to education the country now seems well set to provide universal and good quality basic education yet behind this otherwise rosy picture lie serious concerns relating primarily to gender and equity this volume provides an insightful understanding of the ground realities of primary education programmes particularly those run by the district primary education programme dpep combining secondary research with field studies conducted in six states the contributors explore
