Michael Peppard provides a historical and theological reassessment of the oldest Christian building ever discovered, the third century House Church at Dura Europos. Contrary to commonly held assumptions about Christian initiation, Peppard contends that rituals here did not primarily embody notions of death and resurrection; rather, he portrays the motifs of the church's wall paintings as those of empowerment, healing, marriage, and incarnation. While boldly reidentifying the figure of a woman formerly believed to be a repentant sinner as the Virgin Mary, this richly illustrated volume is a breakthrough work that enhances our understanding of early Christianity at the nexus of Bible, art, and ritual.

when the world was black the untold history of the world's first civilizations volume two of the science of self series has been published in two parts why two because there are far too many stories that remain untold we had over 200 000 years of black history to tell from the southern tip of chile to the northernmost isles of europe and you can't do that justice in a 300 page book so there are two parts each consisting of 360 pages of groundbreaking history digging deep into the story of all the world's original people part one covers the black origins of all the world's oldest cultures and societies spanning more than 200 000 years of human history part two tells the stories of the black men and women who introduced urban civilization to the world over the last 20 000 years up to the time of european contact each part has over 100 helpful maps graphs and photos an 8 page full color insert in the center and over 300 footnotes and references for further research in this book you'll learn about the history of black people i don't mean the history you learned in school which most likely began with slavery and ended with the civil rights movement i'm talking about black history before that long before that in this book we'll cover over 200 000 years of black history for many of us that sounds strange we can't even imagine what the black past was like before the slave trade much less imagine that such a history goes back 200 000 years or more part two covers history from 20 000 years ago to the point of european contact this is the time that prehistoric cultures grew into ancient urban civilizations a transition known to historians as the neolithic revolution the brilliant historian whose earlier works the spanish civil war and cuba the pursuit of freedom met with acclaim now focuses his attention on world history from the origins of man to today's world as the top selling copyrighted book in publishing history the guinness book of world records has achieved a spectacular feat from edition to edition it has surveyed the world's most extraordinary authenticated facts and figures measuring all strata of human achievement and endurance as well as natural phenomena while it continues to entertain millions with superlatives ranging from the trivial to the sublime it's clear that this one mammoth volume may be the best superlative of them all i recommend this book highly to social scientists who are looking for a review or refresher course in urbanology advanced undergraduate students and introductory graduate students as our american college student bodies become more culturally diverse the humanity of cities provides a welcome respite from the usual culture bound texts that give limited attention for effect only of the stereotypical third world contemporary sociology gulick's style is to develop each topic by presenting appropriate case studies he manages to include an enormous range of studies and he wisely reaches out beyond anthropology to the many fields that concern themselves with urban life this book is consequently an excellent compilation of the recent history of theoretical and empirical research on an in cities the 28 page bibliography is itself a tour de force american anthropologist combining major urban theories with empirical studies from around the world the author offers poignant glimpses into urban life including the streets of san francisco as seen through the eyes of a proud garbage collector the marketplace of ibadan as seen by a petty food trader the curiously empty streets of fun city a california retirement community and cairo s teeming cemetery the city of the dead filling with the living the problems of urban life are shown to be more a result of worldwide forces rather than the intrinsic nature of cities this major new and timely contribution to the field is a most useful way to introduce urban scholars planners and students in a variety of disciplines to the humanity of cities a complete teachers manual makes this the perfect text this book shows how one can turn a hobby of drawing funny cartoons into a livelihood
