key themes for the study of islam examines the central themes and concepts indispensable to an informed understanding of islamic religion and society from gender and history to prayer and prophecy each authoritative chapter focuses on a single aspect of the religion and presents a critical discussion written by a world expert in that field exposing as false the idea that islam and muslims are incomprehensible to western culture this book will become the first choice for students and experts in religion from disparate fields who wish to know how islam relates to vital concepts in religion and society today offers an innovative study of traditional and new methodologies used to study islam public interest in the religion of islam and in muslim communities in recent years has generated an impetus for western universities to establish an array of institutes and programs dedicated to the study of islam despite the growth in number of programs dedicated to this study very little attention has been paid to the appropriate shape of such programs and the assumptions that ought to underlie such a study the teaching and study of islam in western universities attempts to address two central questions that arise through the teaching of islam firstly what relation is there between the study of the religion of islam and the study of those cultures that have been shaped by that religion secondly what is the appropriate public role of a scholar of islam after extensive discussion of these questions the authors then continue to address the wider issues raised for the academic community having to negotiate between competing cultural and philosophical demands this edited collection provides new perspectives on the study of islam in western institutions and will be an invaluable resource for students of education and religion in particular islamic studies the study of islam and muslims in europe and north america has expanded greatly in recent decades becoming a passionately debated and divided field this collection critically assesses the development of the field of islamic studies and its place in society featuring contributions from anthropologists historians and scholars of religion each chapter contains new empirical material and discusses approaches to the study of islam past and present the book situates islamic studies within broader discussions of the construction of identity and its political implications in europe and north america authors also address tensions between normative and non normative approaches to the study of islam and muslims and consider how these might be reconciled this book presents islam as a lived religion through observation and discussion of how muslims from a variety of countries traditions and views practice their religion it conveys the experiences of researchers from different disciplinary backgrounds and demonstrates the dynamic and heterogeneous world of islam the fascinating case studies range from turkey egypt morocco and lebanon to the uk usa australia and indonesia and cover topics such as music art education law gender and sexuality together they will help students understand how research into religious practice is carried out and what issues and challenges arise

a welcome addition to the already available introductory works on islam the chapters of the book combine depth of analysis and erudition on a wide range of subjects thus in a single volume one finds several superbly written papers not only on the foundations of islam and the manifestations of islamic culture but also on issues which are at the centre of contemporary debates among muslims such as multiculturalism social justice democracy and diversity as a sourcebook this work is equally useful for students academicians and general readers zafar ishaq ansari director islamic research institute international islamic university islamic studies is at a critical moment in its history it seeks both to maintain its rich history and to engage with other sometimes dominant cultural and political studies this tension is producing complex changes in both the theory and the practice of islamic studies this timely and stimulating handbook edited by world class experts in the field provides a comprehensive guide to islamic studies today it examines the main issues in the field and explores the key debates it provides readers with an indispensable balanced guide to the roots of islam and the challenges it faces in the twenty first century the handbook includes discussions of islam as a community of discourse and a global system islam diaspora and multiculturalism the qu ran today islam as a moral and judicial system islam and politics islam and culture diversities and islam concise level headed and penetrating this collection will be of interest to anyone who studies contemporary islam it brings together an unparalleled collection of international scholars who illuminate some of the most urgent and complex issues in the world today are there islamic means to getting better grades many muslim students have a strong work ethic and good study skills yet they still leave some of the most powerful tools in their arsenals on the shelf in art of studying an islamic approach dr hateem siddiqui draws on his own experiences as a student to teach others how to rediscover these powerful tools of the spiritual dimension of studying some of which include harnessing the power of prayer and supplication to study more effectively analyzing the power of gratitude and forgiveness in attracting success establishing a framework for a life of contentment and commitment to excellence whether you are a struggling student who wants to improve your study habits or you are struggling to balance your spiritual and worldly life art of studying provides not only an islamic approach to achieving your goals in school but also a blueprint for overcoming life s many challenges studying the qur an in the muslim academy examines what it is like to study and teach the qur an at academic institutions in the muslim world majid daneshgar offers a constructive program for enriching islamic studies by fusing the best of western theories with the best philological practices developed in muslim academic contexts aimed at encouraging respectful but critical engagement with the qur an in recent decades traditional methods of philology and intellectual history applied to the study of islam and muslim societies have been met with considerable criticism from rising generations of scholars who have turned to the social sciences most notably anthropology and social history for guidance this change has been accompanied by the rise of new fields studying for example islam in europe and africa and new topics such as the role of gender this collection surveys these transformations and others taking stock of the field and showing new paths forward key themes for the study of islam examines the central themes and concepts indispensable to an informed understanding of islamic religion and society this book will become the first choice for students and experts in religion from disparate fields who wish to know how islam relates to vital concepts in religion and society today the collection of papers in this volume documents the study of islam in american universities over the last few decades the united states has seen significant growth in the study of islam and islamic societies in institutions of higher learning fueled primarily by events including economic relations of the u s with muslim countries migration of muslims into the country conversion of americans to islam u s interests in arab oil resources involvement of muslims in the american public square and the tragic events of 9 11 although there is increasing recognition that the study of islam and the role of muslims is strategically essential in a climate of global integration multiculturalism and political turmoil nevertheless the state of islamic studies in america is far from satisfactory the issue needs to be addressed particularly as the need for intelligent debate and understanding is continuously stifled by what some have termed an islam industry run primarily by fly by journalists think tank pundits and cut and paste experts the islamic moral economy is an academic book that analyzes the religious permissibility or lack thereof of the existing repertoire of financial instruments used in islamic banking and finance the work is both timely and sound especially considering the growth of the international islamic banking and insurance industries and the great recession of 2007 2010 the islamic moral economy is an excellent introductory book for academics and finance professionals wishing to gain a better understanding of islamic moral constraints on economic transactions and how most current islamic banking transactions are structured more specifically the author examines the utopian nature of the islamic moral economy with a special emphasis on riba i e financial interest and illogical increase which is inescapable in the global interconnected economy and therefore insoluble within the framework of the islamic moral economy unlike other books on the subject the islamic moral economy places a special emphasis on the ubiquity of financial interest and illogical increase in both current islamic banking and finance as well as conventional economics islamic culture a study of cultural anthropology illustrates islamic culture from an anthropological point of view it shows that islam as a way of life relates to all cultural aspects based upon the tradition of its prophet mohammad for the rst time this study shows that the prophet of islam is the founder of islamic culture and this culture is not an inherited concept but based upon a revelation received from god
