this is the credo and seminal text of the movement which was later characterized as liberation theology the book burst upon the scene in the early seventies and was swiftly acknowledged as a pioneering and prophetic approach to theology which famously made an option for the poor placing the exploited the alienated and the economically wretched at the centre of a programme where the oppressed and maimed and blind and lame were prioritized at the expense of those who either maintained the status quo or who abused the structures of power for their own ends this powerful compassionate and radical book attracted criticism for daring to mix politics and religion in so explicit a manner but was also welcomed by those who had the capacity to see that its agenda was nothing more nor less than to give good news to the poor and redeem god's people from bondage here is a definitive introduction to liberation theology through the life and work of its most significant proponent gustavo gutierrez robert mcafee brown draws extensively on gutierrez s own writings some never published in english and on personal conversations with him brown clearly and compellingly presents the basics of liberation theology and the differences between north american and latin american theologies the form of gustavo gutierrez is that of a drama brown s initial program notes introduce and situate the author the actors the critics he sets the stage with a history of church and state in latin america and introduces its definitive figures themes and milestones a collective biography of gutierrez s spiritual predecessors is followed by a biography of gutierrez himself which takes critical account of his works then we are ready dramatically and theologically to move to the first act that of commitment to the poor the second act in two scenes explores first liberation theology s method of critical reflection on praxis and also its content nothing less than the word of god brown delves next into the controversies and criticisms gutierrez faces especially the challenges from authorities in rome finally in act three readers discover that in this particular drama they too are on stage and must take part by reflecting on what this drama really means for them this is the credo and seminal text of the movement known as liberation theology the book burst upon the theological scene in the early seventies and was swiftly acknowledged as a pioneering and prophetic approach which famously made a preferential option for the poor placing the exploited and the economically downtrodden at the centre of a programme to redeem god s people from bondage book jacket this book explores liberation theology a fusion of christian theology and socio economic theory which stresses social concern for the poor and political liberation of oppressed peoples liberation theology became latin american theologians political practice such as gustavo gutiérrez leonardo boff and jesuits juan luis seg and jesuits juan luis seg in the 1960s after the second vatican council in 1968 and shortly afterward general pedro arrupe selected justice in the world for the world synod of catholic bishops 1971 liberation theologies have formed in other areas of the globe such as the u s and south africa black theology palestinian liberation theology india s dalit theology and south korea s minjung theology although the medellín text is not a document of liberation theology it laid the foundations for most of it and liberation theology developed rapidly in the latin american catholic church after it was written robin nagle argues that the theology of liberation is inadequate for genuine social reform anthropologist manuel vasquez argues that the theology of liberation introduced by cebs produces a double impact since it gives the theological rationale for the opposition and acts to coordinate resistance in the intellectual fusion between liberation theology and sandinismo the influence of liberation theologians within the fsln regime and the interrelated support for liberation theology and the fsln within the nicaraguan population ranging from metropolitan people to eccentric residents this partnership which reached its height in the early years of fsln rule following the nicaraguan revolution is observed voices of black liberation theology and female liberation theology are also found more or less around the same period as the original latin american liberation theology publications black theology aims to free communities of color from different political societal economic and theological subjugation and sees christian theology as a salvation theology a rational study of the being of god in the world considering the existential situation of an oppressed community relating the forces of liberation to the essence of the gospel which is Jesus Christ writes Jam in the chaos that is Latin American politics what role does the Catholic Church play with regard to its clergy and its members how does the church function in Latin America on an everyday practical level and how successful has the church been intervening in political matters despite the fact that Latin American countries are essentially Catholic nations Philip Berryman addresses these timely and challenging issues in this comprehensive unlike journalistic accounts which all too frequently portray liberation theology as an exotic brew of Marxism and Christianity or as a movement of rebel priests bent on challenging church authority this book aims to get beyond these clichés to explain exactly what liberation theology is how it arose how it works in practice and its implications the book also examines how liberation theology functions at the village or barrio level the political impact of liberation theology and the major objections to it posed by critics concluding with a tentative assessment of the future of liberation theology author note Phillip Berryman was a pastoral worker in a barrio in Panama during 1965-73 from 1976 to 1980 he served as a representative for the American Friends Service Committee in Central America in 1980 he returned from Guatemala to the United States and now lives in Philadelphia

Gutiérrez's 1971 book provides an inspiring argument as to how Christians and the Roman Catholic Church should support the poor the Catholic Church had traditionally seen itself as politically neutral but in the 1960s and 70s reformers such as Gutiérrez urged it to seriously address real world issues such as poverty and oppression

Peruvian priest Gustavo Gutiérrez wanted to solve the problem of how the church could conduct itself to improve the lives of the poor while consistently positioning itself as politically neutral despite being a deeply religious man Gutiérrez was extremely troubled by the lukewarm way in which Christians in general and the Catholic Church in particular acknowledged and supported the poor in a theology of liberation he asked what he knew was an awkward question and came to an awkward answer the church cannot separate itself from economic and political realities Jesus showed his love for the poor in practical ways healing the sick feeding the hungry liberating the oppressed his example showed Gutiérrez that economic political social and spiritual development are all deeply connected his problem solving prowess then led him to conclude that the church had to become politically active if it was to confront poverty and oppression across the world for Gutiérrez the lives of the poor and oppressed directly reflect the divine life of God

Brown explains and illuminates liberation theology for North American readers who may have no previous knowledge of this recent dynamic Christian movement growing out of the experience of oppressed people in Latin America liberation theology lends a transforming power to both the study of the Bible and the Christian duty to work for justice for all God's people

In this volume Eddy Jose Muskus provides an academic analysis of the roots of liberation theology challenging the claim that it arose from the Latin American poor and maintaining instead that its fundamental tenets had their origin in europe muskus argues further that the writings of the 16th century bartolome de las casas have been misinterpreted and misused by liberation theologians such as gutierrez liberation theology says the author has exposed the failure of catholicism to provide a moral framework within the fabric of latin american society also contrary to the claims of liberation theology muskus argues that there is no biblical foundation for a preferential option for the poor
