in recent years more and more christians have come to appreciate the bible s teaching that the ultimate blessed hope for the believer is not an otherworldly heaven instead it is full bodied participation in a new heaven and a new earth brought into fullness through the coming of god s kingdom drawing on the full sweep of the biblical narrative j richard middleton unpacks key old testament and new testament texts to make a case for the new earth as the appropriate christian hope he suggests its ethical and ecclesial implications exploring the difference a holistic eschatology can make for living in a broken world

anthony hoekema brings to the study of biblical prophecy and eschatology a maturity that is rare among contemporary works on the subject free of sensationalism he evinces a reverence for the scriptures and a measured scholarship one of the best studies on eschatology available christianity today these 20 essays by ronald bogue on gille deleuze s though touch on cinema music theatre painting fiction education ecology ethology politics technology and philosophy he creates paradigmatic occasions of thinking with deleuze thinking with him and through him following diverse lines of his thought and engaging concepts to extend his thought into areas deleuze did not explore every one of these frequently cited classic essays has been reworked to bring them up to date with the latest research in deleuze studies each offers a separate entry into deleuze s thought together they illuminate the pivotal role the arts play in the political project of inventing a people to come and the broader project of promoting an ecologically viable new earth emerging concerns and contexts of geological thinking seek to bring out how energopolitical interventions into the geokinetic unfolding of the earth assume new dimensions and directions owing to the complex and evolving intersections between folds and fluxes of energy in the context of oceans written in negotiation with the notion of energopolitics articulated by dominic boyer remapping energopolitics calls for ruling out any epistemic attempt to structure the rhizomatic movements of energy through the transformations of oceans aiming to delve deeper into the complex junctures among energy ocean and earth ing epistemic ends of blue humanities are reworked with the help of geophilosophical reading of some sri lankan minor writings and in doing so remapping energopolitics makes a series of attempts to reconceptualize energy thinking in line with the differential and deterritorial grammatology of deleuzo guattarian micropolitics thereby offering a critique of the structured and stratified understandings of energy linkages
