the standard view of the form meaning interfaces as embraced by the great majority of contemporary grammatical frameworks consists in the assumption that meaning can be associated with grammatical form in a one to one correspondence under this view composition is quite straightforward involving concatenation of form paired with functional application in

meaning in this book we discuss linguistic phenomena across several grammatical sub modules morphology syntax semantics that apparently pose a problem to the standard view mapping out the potential for deviation from the ideal of one to one correspondences and develop formal accounts of the range of phenomena we argue that a constraint based perspective is particularly apt to accommodate deviations from one to many correspondences as it allows us to impose constraints on full structures such as a complete word or the interpretation of a full sentence instead of deriving such structures step by step most of the papers in this volume are formulated in a particular constraint based grammar framework head driven phrase structure grammar the contributions investigate how the lexical and constructional aspects of this theory can be combined to provide an answer to this question across different linguistic sub theories
