although gender and non gender scholars have studied men such an academic exercise requires a critical and focused study of masculine subjects in particular social contexts which is what this book attempts to do this empirically rich collection of essays the seventh of the codesria gender series deals with critical examinations of various shades and ramifications of africa s masculinities and what these portend for the peoples of africa and for gender relations in the continent so much has changed in terms of notions and expressions of masculinities in africa since ancient times but many aspects of contemporary masculinities were fashioned during and since the colonial period the papers in this volume were initially discussed at the 2005 month long codesria gender institute in dakar the contributors are gender scholars drawn from various disciplines in the wide fields of the humanities and the social sciences with research interests in the critical study of men and masculinities in africa the codesria gender series aims at keeping alive and nourishing the african social science knowledge base with insightful research and debates that challenge conventional wisdom structures and ideologies that are narrowly informed by caricatures of gender realities the series strives to showcase the best in african gender research and provide a platform for emerging new talents to flower drawing on various theories and cross cultural data the contributors to this volume highlight the various ways in which sport norms policies practices and representations pervasively interface with gender and other socially constructed categories of difference they argue that sport is not only a site of competition and physical recreation but also a crossroad where features of modern society such as hegemony identities democracy technology development and master statuses intertwine and bifurcate as they point out in many ways sport production reproduction distribution and consumption are relational spatial and contextual and therefore do not pay off for men women and other social groups equally the authors draw attention to the structure and scope of efforts needed to transform the exclusionary and gendered nature of sport processes to make them adequate to the task of engendering africa s development this handbook provides a robust collection of vibrant discourses on african social ethics and ethical practices it focuses on how the ethical thoughts of africans are forged within the context of everyday life and how in turn ethical and philosophical thoughts inform day to day living the essays frame ethics as a historical phenomenon best examined as a historical movement the dynamic ethos of a people rather than as a theoretical construct it thereby offers a bold incisive and fresh interpretation of africa s ethical life and thought this book looks at the first ten years of the african union this is the second in a series of books that will be produced each year from annual conferences held on the multi faceted issue of african liberation the key themes of the book explore ways of improving the effectiveness of the african union fostering unity amongst african countries through entrenchment of pan africanism and building ownership of the african union by the african people and their communities in addition the thoughts of key figures of pan africanism and black emancipation such as sylvester williams and franz fanon are re positioned to even greater contemporary relevance through its promotion of ethiopianism pan africanism and the african renaissance we trust that this book will add new interest and a fresh perspective to how africans move forward together into a post colonial era where policies and actions are determined by the united agency of liberated africans the world over
