the second edition of perspectives on africa a reader in culture history and representation is both an introduction to the cultures of africa and a history of the interpretations of those cultures key essays explore the major issues and debates through a combination of classic articles and the newest research in the field explores the dynamic processes by and through which scholars have described and understood african history and culture includes selections from anthropologists historians philosophers and critics who collectively reveal the interpenetration of ideas and concepts within and across disciplines regions and historical periods offers a combined focus on ethnography and theory giving students the means to link theory with data and perspective with practice newly revised and updated edition of this popular text with 14 brand new chapters and two new sections conflict and violent transformations and development governance and globalization in this book one of the pioneers of twentieth century african history examines the perceptions and responses of africans to european colonialism of the late nineteenth and early twentieth century this edition of boahen s text originally published in 1989 is contextualized in a new foreword by john lonsdale updating some of boahen s findings and interpretations while maintaining that the best totally unambiguous legacy of this republication would surely be the inspiration of a new generation of african scholars locally based as clear minded and outspoken as adu boahen himself in order to study the history of colonialism and its legacy from the perspective of the early 21st century we have to think beyond old spatial and disciplinary boundaries starting from this insight the essays in this volume explore the roles that race and migration played in the formation of trans national spaces and identities they investigate topics such as citizenship sovereignty and racialized bodies as well as transnational patterns of political activism and belonging migration the biopolitics of whiteness and the history of humanitarian ngos as a result this book makes an important contribution to ongoing debates about the current location of postcolonial studies series periplus studien vol 17 backed by a range of case studies and recent developments in human rights education research nordic perspectives on human rights education guides readers through an analysis of educational inequities and identifies how internationally agreed upon human rights standards may inform social justice practices within schools in an age characterised by authoritarianism and extremism but also social and climate justice movements this book provides a critical analysis of current practice within schools contributing authors also discuss how a human rights framework may improve practice supporting intersectional thinking and more sustainable learning environments while also empowering teachers to confidently navigate issues of gender national identity and minority rights divided into three distinct sections chapters invite readers to consider the context behind human rights education here rights based approaches to teaching and education international dialogue and how we may learn from the approaches of other countries drawing on research from the nordic region and discussing its implications elsewhere this volume is an essential resource for scholars developing theory and practice in human rights education social studies citizenship education and international and comparative education chapter 2 of this book is freely available as a downloadable open access pdf at taylorfrancis.com under a creative commons attribution cc by 4.0 license chapters 1 6 7 9 12 and 13 of this book are freely available as a downloadable open access pdf at taylorfrancis.com under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivatives cc by nc nd 4.0 license this compilation was inspired by an international symposium held on the legon campus in september 2003 hosted by the codesria african humanities institute programme the symposium had the theme canonical works and continuing innovation in african arts humanities the essays in this volume demonstrate that on the eastern shores of the mediterranean there were rich variegated and important phenomena associated with the crusades and that a full understanding of the significance of the movement and its impact on both the east and west must take these phenomena into account this engaging two volume study urges a balance between theoretical and practical sociology applied sociologists adapt theoretical knowledge to actual human situations using it to formulate social policy investigate domestic and international social problems and create a pragmatic sociology of possibility these essays emphasize the close association of applied sociology with altruism identity formation race and ethnicity they evaluate the empirical truths of sociological theories and examine their relevance for contemporary research poverty demographic issues and social policies framed in the context of globalization each chapter of the study provides some workable guidelines for social scientists policymakers planners administrators and social activists the reader is also introduced to the sophisticated research methods employed in the social sciences excessive theorizing is avoided as modern crises precipitated by war terrorism anarchy and poverty are examined in practical and realistic terms in the rapidly evolving context of contemporary europe many citizens have previous experience of colonial or neo colonial forms of domination this raises questions about the impact of such experiences on the shaping of identities within an environment that is itself constantly evolving how do such people see themselves and their community how are they perceived what effect does this have on their integration into the wider european community this timely volume brings together a series of papers which explore such questions through the discourse relating to those people both self and other generated the originality of this book stems not only from its thematic focus but also from the multi national multi disciplinary background of the contributions which offer new interpretations and analyses in particular within a framework of post colonial and critical discourse theory contributors from across europe and north america bring perspectives from applied linguistics language and literary studies communication studies sociology and social psychology primary texts examined include literature news media film political discourse both written and spoken and original interview data language is observed both in its usage and for its participatory role in identity formation three different groupings are identified for observation namely 1 migrant diasporas originating from the traditional areas of european colonisation in africa and asia 2 citizens of newer member states of the european union including former soviet satellite states like latvia or aspiring members like turkey and 3 a number of regional groups irish welsh whose relationship with the central government shares neo colonial characteristics the book is intended for all those interested in understanding the factors influencing the rapidly evolving character of europe and its populations and is intended to form a platform for future exploration and research in this area this is must reading for all serious students of race and ethnic relations choice americans who study racism and the movements to counteract racism tend to look only at the u s situation in their attempts to understand the two phenomena however focusing only on the familiar and the national makes it very difficult to see how racism in the united states has been defined by our culture and history and how it can be changed for these reasons racism and antiracism in world perspective edited by benjamin p bowser is a unique and valuable resource for students and scholars of race relations the book s contributors come from a wide range of backgrounds including anthropology classics sociology political science communication and history they examine racism and antiracism through the historical and cultural lenses of different world settings including europe south america africa north america and the caribbean this progressive approach changes and expands the framework through which we understand the genesis and dynamics of racism and antiracism students and practitioners in the fields of race and ethnic relations sociology anthropology cross cultural studies political science policy studies and comparative studies will find racism and antiracism in world perspective to be an invaluable resource on international racism
