the essays in this interdisciplinary volume examine the social and cultural interaction of christians muslims and jews in spain during the medieval and early modern periods together the essays provide a unique comparative perspective on compelling problems of ethnoreligious relations christians muslims and jews in medieval and early modern spain considers how certain social and political conditions fostered fruitful cultural interchange while others promoted mutual hostility and aversion the volume examines the factors that enabled one religious minority to maintain its cultural integrity and identity more effectively than another in the same sociopolitical setting this volume provides an enriched understanding of how christians muslims and jews encountered ideological antagonism and negotiated the theological and social boundaries that separated them examines the socially induced processes of landscape change in the iberian peninsula across the moving border between christians and muslims and sociopolitical developments after the christian triumph also demonstrates the application of a universalizing hypothesis of landscape change and the organization of rural society covering the entire period from the islamic conquest of the visigoths to the lower middle ages describes and interprets the maze of recent archaeological results that have been virtually ignored in english scholarship este libro trata el desarrollo histórico de las dinastías y regiones islamicas mostrando la diversidad de su expresión artística desde sus muy lejanos comienzos hasta nuestros días el rico poder creativo del arte y arquitectura islamico es claramente evidente desde el umayyad de siria al mughal de india desde el imperio otomano a las contemporáneas formas de arte this work traces the long history of the troubled relationship between christians and muslims it is a campaign without end waged in many ways we see how and why a battle is still being waged today through the press and books television radio and the internet taking as a starting point the inventory of authors from the renowned index islamicus this biographical companion contains a collection of data on the lives and works of the tens of thousands of authors listed in this index from 1665 to 1980 it is useful for the serious student as well as the scholars of islamic studies
