this innovative introduction to literary studies takes the life of texts as its overarching frame it provides a conceptual and methodological toolbox for analysing novels poems and all sorts of other texts as they circulate in oral print and digital form it shows how texts inspire each other and how stories migrate across media it explains why literature has been interpreted in different ways across time finally it asks why some texts fascinate people so much that they are reproduced and passed on to others in the form of new editions in adaptations to film and theatre and last but not least in the ways we look at the world and act out our lives the life of texts is designed around particular issues rather than the history of the discipline as such each chapter concentrates on a different aspect of the life of texts and introduces the key debates and concepts relevant to its study the issues discussed range from aesthetics and narrative to intertextuality and intermediality from reading practices to hermeneutics and semiotics popular culture to literary canonisation postcolonial criticism to cultural memory key concepts and schools in the field have been highlighted in the text and then collected in a glossary for ease of reference all chapters are richly illustrated with examples from different language areas

what is literary theory is there a relationship between literature and culture in fact what is literature and does it matter these are some of questions addressed by jonathan culler in this very short introduction to literary theory often a controversial subject said to have transformed the study of culture and society in the past two decades literary theory is accused of undermining respect for tradition and truth and encouraging suspicion about the political and psychological implications of cultural projects rather than admiration for great literature here jonathan culler explains theory not by describing warring schools but by sketching key moves theory has encouraged and speaking directly about the implications of theory for thinking about literature human identity and the power of language in this new edition culler takes a look at new material including the death of theory the links between the theory of narrative and cognitive science trauma theory ecocriticism and includes a new chapter on ethics and aesthetics this lucid introduction is useful for anyone who has wondered what all the fuss is about or who wants to think about literature today about the series the very short introductions series from oxford university press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area these pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable fresh original and compelling an introduction to literature criticism and theory is the essential guide to literary studies starting at the beginning and concluding with the end the book covers topics that range from the familiar character narrative the author to the more unusual secrets pleasure ghosts eschewing abstract isms bennett and royle successfully illuminate complex ideas by engaging directly with literary works so that a reading of jane eyre opens up ways of thinking about racial difference whilst chaucer raymond chandler and monty python are all invoked in a discussion of literary laughter each chapter ends with a narrative guide to further reading and the book also includes a glossary and bibliography the fourth edition has been revised to incorporate two timely new chapters on animals and the environment a breath of fresh air in a field that can often seem dry and dauntingly theoretical this book will open the reader's eyes to the exhilarating possibilities of both reading and studying literature literary theory has now become integral to how we produce literary criticism when critics write about a text they no longer think just about the biographical or historical contexts of the work but also about the different approaches that literary theory offers by making use of these they create new interpretations of the text that would not otherwise be possible in your own reading and writing literary theory fosters new avenues into the text it allows you to make informed comments about the language and form of literature but also about the core themes concepts such as gender sexuality the self race and class which a text might explore literary theory gives you an almost limitless number of texts to work into your own response ensuring that your interpretation is truly original this is why although literary theory can initially appear alienating and difficult it is something to get really excited about imagine you are standing in the centre of a circular room with a whole set of doors laid out around you each doorway opens on to a new and illuminating field of knowledge that can change how you think about what you have read perhaps in just a small way but also perhaps dramatically and irrevocably you can open one door or many of them the choice is yours put the knowledge you gain together with your own interpretation however and you have a unique and potentially fascinating response each chapter in literary theory a complete introduction covers a key school of thought progressing to a point at which you'll have a full understanding of the range of responses and approaches available for textual interpretation as well as focusing on such core areas as marxism modernism postmodernism structuralism and poststructuralism this introduction brings in recent developments such as eco and ethical criticism and humanisms this unique student resource is specifically designed for those beginning an m.a. in literature providing an introduction to research techniques methodologies and information sources relevant to the study of literature at postgraduate level the authors present a new perspective on a wide range of issues in the study of literature and culture some of the topics discussed such as interpretation canon formation and literary historiography belong to the traditional domain of literary studies others cultural identity convention systems theory and empirical methods originate in the social sciences and are now being integrated into the humanities by referring to the work of authors as widely apart as hayden white edward said fredric jameson michel foucault jacques derrida reinhart koselleck pierre bourdieu niklas luhmann siegfried schmidt norbert groeben and many others the full complexity of the field of literary studies becomes apparent the authors argue for a distinction between analysis of literary systems on the one hand and critical intervention on the other by distinguishing between research and criticism between knowledge and commitment they offer new ways for literary studies as well as for cultural critique in search of authority is the most engaging introduction to literary theory available today this is the third edition of a book that has been widely used to introduce undergraduates to the field of literary theory its distinctive quality is the way in which it makes complex literary theories such as structuralism deconstruction and post modernism accessible to students by relating these theories to students own enjoyment in reading literature each theory is illustrated by several applications of the theory to well known literary works based on a reader response approach to literature in search of authority begins with an up to date account of the status of literary theory in the 21st century including a response to recent debates about the post theory question it concludes with a discussion of how an understanding of literary theory can lead to the empowerment of the individual reader and of how the authority of the professor can be gradually transferred to the student this third edition has been revised and updated throughout each chapter ends with several questions to help students check their understanding of the key ideas in the chapter unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 we have not used ocr optical character recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 in books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc we have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy
