when the brazilian public intellectual marcia tiburi published the psycho cultural underpinnings of everyday fascism in 2015 fascism was yet to return to the public consciousness but tiburi was motivated by the kind of fascism she was noticing in daily life people who fail to practise any kind of reflection about society betraying a pattern of everyday thought characterized by the repetition of clichés and the angry language of hatred three years later brazil elected the far right president jair bolsonaro now available in english for the first time this prescient work speaks to our present moment fascism is among us once again evident in the collective expression of exacerbated authoritarianism and the growing hatred against difference and people marked as socially undesirable drawing on her own first hand brutal encounters tiburi connects ways of thinking in brazil to what is happening around us today and introduces us to the fascist as manipulator the distorter of other people's speech fascist as an activist of evil on a daily basis the one who lives by fostering racism and male domination and is proud of it tiburi takes us beyond formal policies reinvigorates ideas from the frankfurt school and refuses to otherize supporters of fascism instead she asks what is amiss in their lives that then attracts them to a political project that victimizes them this powerful book forces us to consider to our actions at a subjective level and changes our way of thinking through issues of hate and divisiveness pervading politics everywhere genocide has been called the crime of crimes and an odious scourge with millions of victims in the last century alone it is one of the great moral and political challenges of our age despite the challenges such human cruelty has not stopped the 21st century is recording its first genocide in cameroon with only a scanty few raising a finger the significance of the odious scourge has compelled tatah mentan to research on the trajectory of the scourge in africa over the past centuries the targeted ongoing mass killings in cameroon like those of rwanda before have driven the scholar to expand his focus beyond the holocaust which had long been the primary case study in this book tatah mentan explains that these cases were not merely a human catastrophe nor an atavistic reversion to the barbarism of a past epoch but rather an event produced by the unfolding of the logic of capitalism itself this book therefore critically explores the essence of capitalism as genocide in africa and its consequences on africans during their colonisation and incorporation into the european dominated racialised capitalist world system in the late 18th century it uses multidimensional comparative methods and critical approaches to explain the dynamic interplay among social structures human agency and terror to explain the connection between structural capitalist terrorism and the emergence of the capitalist world system tatak mentan proposes a genuine participatory democratic alternative to the unending genocide nightmares nurturing participatory attitudes would facilitate and reinforce self management and educate and empower individuals and dispossessed and under represented communities to seek self determination and democratic participation in the political arena tatak mentan concludes that the same fundamental commitments that urge humanity to promote participatory political democracy should compel them to promote truly inclusive economic democracy as well political economists historians students corporate managers and policy makers at national and international levels are invited to share the insights of this book
