the english language is now a lingua franca spoken by about two billion people this insightful study considers how a bridge language affects world literature by analyzing what it is how it works what are its themes what it means for canons and how it is mediated cultural criticism often employs perspectives of race citizenship and colonialism as well as considerations of scale archipelagic planetary form analogies between the literary and the social and technologies as they inflect artifacts these approaches help rethink the new dynamics of anglophone literature but they have often overlooked one of the basic elements of literature the language itself literatures in english vernaculars have flourished and justin quinn shows that writers are also creating a new idiom in english that is not fixed to a particular locale or community while sentences may become simpler the vocabulary range narrower and rich cultural references lost quinn reveals how much this new form of writing gains he explores the work of a wide range of authors including daisy hildyard kim stanley robinson bryan washington yiyun li and terrance hayes literature in the age of lingua franca english the zero style is an innovative and illuminating resource for students and scholars of global anglophone literature comparative literature and cultural studies

how does coding change the way we think about architecture this question opens up an important research perspective in this book miro roman and his ai alice ch3n81 develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information they convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science this book redefines modern indian literature from a cosmopolitan comparative perspective inclusive of literature in english from india and the diaspora in native languages and works by non indians it shows how since the mid 19th century indian literary modernity pursued the conjunction of the sensuous and ethical spiritual that characterized its three traditions sanskritik persian and folk culture while the encounter both receptive and oppositional with the west vastly expanded the indian literary sphere aesthetics and ethics are not antithetical in the indian cultural space but the quest for an exclusive indian identity versus universalist approaches offsets concerns for social justice as well as enjoyable embodied communication the literary constellation in many languages now formed in and around india can be better apprehended as a virtual cosmopolis a commonwealth of elaborate emotions the versatile figure of hanuman metaphorically flies across this ocean of stories to make us discover new worlds of experience this comprehensive study cosponsored by the christian college coalition addresses questions faced by students in introductory literature courses it examines literature as a form of human action and argues that the reading and writing of literary works provide vital ways for men and women to act as responsible agents in god s world building upon the doctrine of creation the authors show how the reading of literature helps us to be more effective interpreters of the stories and images we encounter daily they demonstrate that great works of literature open up a realm of beauty and truth and help us gain an understanding of ourselves god and the world stories silenced or sequestered by a century of mass displacement between europe and the middle east recovered and retold at last in 1923 the greco turkish population exchange uprooted and swapped nearly two million christians and muslims pacifying the so called near east through ethnic partition and refugeehood this imposition of borders not only uprooted peoples from their place in the world it also displaced many of their stories from a place in world literature in literature s refuge william stroebel recovers and weaves together work by fugitive writers oral storytellers readers copyists editors and translators dispersed by this massive unmixing of populations and the broader border logic that it set in motion stroebel argues that two complementary forces emerged as a template for the eastern mediterranean s cultural landscape the modern border which reshuffled people through a system of filters and checkpoints and modern philology which similarly reshuffled their words and works philologists and publishers defined modern literature by picking apart extracting reformatting or dispossessing refugee and diasporic texts across a racialized borderscape a gray zone of semi inclusion and semi exclusion semimobility and immobility stroebel reaches into the chinks and crannies of this borderscape to reconstitute the rich textual geography between greek orthodoxy and sunni islam between greek script arabic script and latin script literary traditions at the edges of europe and the middle east doing so he offers a new methodological toolkit for rewriting the modern borderscapes of world literature using wordsworth as a focal point this book describes how in the period of romanticism and beyond the historical practice of pilgrimage became internalised figuratively and psychologically so as to represent christian discourse in nineteenth century english literature it surveys the imaginative relocation of jerusalem and rome to real and present places thereby creating the nation s sacred imaginary wordsworth is presented as central to founding a literary religious discourse on the sacred site of the lake district also explored are the ways in which other victorian writers such as ruskin and newman participated in that construction by their own literary pilgrimages overall this book revises assumptions about the decline of the religious imagination in nineteenth century english literature and fundamentally reappraises the function of romantic and victorian representations of the sacred in forming the nation and empire
