in a 1987 interview josé saramago eloquently expressed what could be considered his political philosophical manifesto human beings should not content themselves with the role of mere observers they bear a responsibility to the world they must actively engage and intervene in 1998 the celebrated writer was honoured with the nobel prize for literature so saramago did not only as a human being and a citizen but also as an artist refuse to be a passive observer despite his profound and always critical pessimism he tirelessly propelled both his public and artistic persona toward impactful actions and interventions showcasing an unwavering dedication to reshaping the world this volume seeks to delve into this facet of his legacy exploring it from diverse political and philosophical perspectives on emerging from hyper nation represents ronald w sousa s attempt to answer the question why do i smile on reading one of saramago s historical novels why that reaction of emotional release to answer the smile question the book engages in a critical mode that could be described as discourse analysis it combines several critical strains and relies on basic concepts from freudian and lacanian psychoanalysis adlerian psychology and contemporary cognitive psychology for their discourse analytical value rather than as entrées into psychoanalytical reading per se the introductory chapter presents some of the concepts that underlie that compound analytical modality and sets out an overview of twentieth century portuguese social and economic history then with an eye to answering the smile question the book reads nobel laureate josé saramago s three novels baltasar and blimunda 1982 the year of the death of ricardo reis 1984 and the history of the siege of lisbon 1989 or better it seeks to read sousa s own reading of the three works since focus falls on how each novel seeks to construct both its own reading and also sousa as its reader the discussion brings to light a number of textual phenomena that bear upon the smile question among them are that the novels invoke often subtly the fascist hermeneutical heritage remaining from before the revolution of 1974 as a constituent part of their communication with the reader that they summon up historical trauma that they function as freudian style tendentious jokes and that through these various invocations they seek to constitute a postrevolutionary portuguese subject the reading of sousa s reading then ends up being a reading of some of the cultural forces at work in postrevolutionary portugal the past decades have seen a growing philosophical interest in a number of authors but strangely enough saramago s oeuvre has been left somewhat aside this volume aims at filling this gap by providing a diverse range of philosophical perspectives and expositions on saramago s work the chapters explore some possible issues arising from his works from his use of plato s allegory of the cave to his re readings of biblical stories from his critique and reinvention of philosophy of history to his allegorical exploration of alternative histories from his humorous approach to our being towards death to the revolutionary political charge of his fiction the essays here confront saramago s fiction with concepts theories and suggestions belonging to various philosophical traditions and philosophers including plato pascal kierkegaard freud benjamin heidegger lacan foucault patoka derrida agamben and Žižek the companion to magical realism provides an assessment of the world wide impact of a movement which was incubated in germany flourished in latin america and then spread to the rest of the world it provides a set of up to date assessments of the work of writers traditionally associated with magical realism such as gabriel garc a m rquez in particular his recently published memoirs alejo carpentier miguel ngel asturias juan rulfo isabel allende laura esquivel and salman rushdie as well as bringing into the fold new authors such as w b yeats seamus heaney jos saramago dorit rabinyan ovid mar a luisa bombal ibrahim al kawni mayra montero nakagami kenji jos eustasio rivera and elias khoury discussed for the first time in the context of magical realism written in a jargon free style and with all quotations translated into english this book offers a refreshing new interdisciplinary slant on magical realism as an international literary phenomenon emerging from the trauma of colonial dispossession the companion also the translator s dialogue giovanni pontiero is a tribute to an outstanding translator of literary works from portuguese luso brasilian italian and spanish into english the translator introduced authors such as carlos drummond de andrade manuel bandeira clarice lispector and jose saramago to the english reading world pontiero s essays shed light on the process of literary translation and its impact on cultural perception this process is exemplified by pontiero the translator and analyst some of the authors he collaborated with publishers editors and literary critics and finally by an unpublished translation of a short story by jose saramago coisas utopia equity and ideology in urban texts fair and unfair cities explores the complex interrelations of three key critical topics across a diverse range of urban writing interrogating the links and tensions between aesthetic and political priorities in the representation and imagining of urban life the volume engages with work from a wide variety of linguistic and cultural origins and across a range of textual practices having the urban phenomenon as a common framing concern individual contributions discussing genre and literary fiction poetic writing documentary and essayistic texts planning manifestos and municipal communications materials serve to demonstrate that the nuanced treatments of urban experience and potential which may be gleaned from across this textual spectrum act as a pragmatic corrective to purely conceptual approaches as such the volume consolidates the emerging dialogue between the fields of utopian studies and literary urban studies understanding these as complementary approaches to the reading of the city and its textual prolongations behold the lilies draws from the riches of the author's long standing work in the theology of nature and ecological spirituality especially from his classic historical study the travail of nature 1985 and from his franciscan exploration in christian spirituality before nature 2014 in this new volume santmire maintains that those who would follow jesus are mandated not just to care for the earth and all its creatures but also to contemplate the beauties of the whole creation beginning with the lilies of the field his first person reflections range from scything with god to rediscovering saint francis in stone from taking a plunge in the niagara river to pondering the darkness of nature behold the lilies offers brief spiritual reflections that can be read in any order over a period of time this accessible primer will be welcomed not only by those who have already identified themselves with the way of jesus but also by others who are searching for a contemplative spirituality attuned to global ecological and justice issues

w dean sutcliffe investigates one of the greatest yet least understood repertoires of western keyboard music the 555 keyboard sonatas of domenico scarlatti scarlatti occupies a position of solitary splendour in musical history the sources of his style are often obscure and his immediate influence is difficult to discern further the lack of hard documentary evidence has hindered musicological activity dr sutcliffe offers not just a thorough reconsideration of the historical factors that have contributed to scarlatti s position but also sustained engagement with the music offering both individual readings and broader commentary of an unprecedented kind a principal task of this book is to remove the composer from his critical ghetto however honourable and redefine his image in so doing it will reflect on the historiographical difficulties involved in understanding eighteenth century musical style forges a new understanding of how these two lusophone nations are connected the closely entwined histories of portugal and brazil remain key references for understanding developments past and present in either country accordingly fernando arenas considers portugal and brazil in relation to one another in this exploration of changing definitions of nationhood subjectivity and utopias in both cultures examining the two nations shared language and histories as well as their cultural social and political points of divergence arenas pursues these definitive changes through the realms of literature intellectual thought popular culture and political discourse both brazil and portugal are subject to the economic political and cultural forces of postmodern globalization arenas analyzes responses to these trends in contemporary writers including jose saramago caio fernando abreu maria isabel barreno vergilio ferreira clarice lispector and maria gabriela llansol ultimately utopias of otherness shows how these writers have redefined the concept of nationhood not only through their investment in utopian or emancipatory causes such as marxist revolution women s liberation or sexual revolution but also by shifting their attention to alternative modes of conceiving the ethical and political realms despite the numerous studies of the politics economy culture and society of the estado novo the relations established between publishers authors and governmental institutions and their contribution to the making of the literary canon are still marginal subjects of analysis based on the systems theories developed by bourdieu dubois and even zohar this study focuses on the cultural production produced during the estado novo 1933 1974 and after the revolution 1974 2004 within their political economic and social framework the chapters on josé saramago and josé luís peixoto show them as examples of literary consecration that confirm the systemic relations in the portuguese literary field this research makes use of a survey on habits of purchase of portuguese fiction interviews with publishers original statistical analyses and takes a new approach to the study of portuguese literature since its inception the nobel prize for literature has given a very public voice to some of the world s greatest writers and their responses to the honor their acceptance speeches have often been epochal from the famed call to arms by william faulkner to the multicultural song of derek walcott from 1903 s bjornstjerne bjornson to 1999 s gunter grass this collection of 28 speeches traces the ideals of the artists and the selection committee itself throughout the 20th century included are an introduction to each of the writers chosen an abridged copy of the speech or lecture and a bibliography of works in english the book is a new interpretation of the weekly torah reading it is written from a world view deeply committed to judaism which places the responsibility of interpretation and identity on each one of us the torah is not in heaven but in the heart and mouth of you and me to study it and to live by it through this book the author tries to involve the reader in the language of the five books of moses that has been present in our lives for thousands of years it s a language which is human universal moral historical and national my interpretation is one of many and i try to invite the reader or student to argue or to agree to add or to subtract from my interpretation or even better to develop their own interpretation and spread it around
