at the outset the subregions of east and north east asia are more dissimilar than similar with different stages of development economic structure and size political systems and culture due to these differences and long standing historical and geopolitical tensions institutionalized regionalization has not made much progress yet there are increasing interactions both officially and at the grassroots level reflecting the growing importance and interdependence within this group of countries from an economic standpoint regional integration is more likely to be successful when countries have complementarities in factor endowments that can be shared to mutual benefit this publication looks into how greater cooperation and integration could offer solutions to not only the old problems of poverty and political instability facing the subregion but also the new challenges posed by economic growth such as emerging income gaps environmental degradation urbanization and congestion and various social issues the survey 2014 examines the region s challenges to support its economic growth and to promote inclusive and sustainable development part i of the report focuses on the region s outlook as it contends with the ongoing global economic uncertainty and assesses the region s policy response to remaining and emerging vulnerabilities it also examines the role of sustainable agriculture in closing the development gaps in least developed countries a special theme is domestic resource mobilisation in the region which explores the challenges on strengthening tax revenues part ii of the report discusses strategic approaches to strengthen regional connectivity to achieve shared prosperity particularly the ways in which various networks facilitate trade production networks and investment flows within the region
