- 1 Early Game Strategy This stage is about accumulation Avoid unnecessary risks Focus on Playing a tight range Only play premium hands eg high pairs suited connectors AK Building your stack Gradually accumulate chips without jeopardizing your tournament life Observing opponents Pay attention to tendencies and playing styles Note aggressive players and those who are tight Example Youre dealt A K in early stages of a 109 tournament You open raise to 25x the big blind not trying to win the pot preflop unnecessarily You call a 3bet from a known aggressive player because your hand has excellent potential
- 2 Middle Game Strategy This is where the action heats up Adjusting to the changing dynamics The blinds are increasing putting pressure on shorter stacks Strategic stealing Taking the pot with a marginal hand when the opportunity presents itself especially when facing passive opponents Balancing your range Mix in bluffs and value bets to make your plays unpredictable Example In the middle stages with your stack above average you steal the blinds with 7 8 when the pot is shallow and the table is passive
- 3 Late Game Strategy This is all about survival and seizing opportunities Shortstack strategy Adjust your play when your stack becomes significantly smaller This may involve playing a wider range of hands and pushing all in when you have good odds Identifying ICM implications Independent Chip Model ICM calculations help determine the true value of your chips at different points in the tournament Endgame maneuvering Look for opportunities to increase your chip stack through calculated plays and strategic bluffs Example With a short stack in the late game you push all in with J 10 from late position because its a good fold equity hand with some potential
