are human rights universal or the product of specific cultures the contributors to this volume address this and many other questions as they examine through a bottom up approach the interaction of human rights and religion in practice and the challenges they pose for national and international policymakers the sanusiya was one of the most influential islamic movements in north africa and the sahara in the nineteenth century it organised the beduin of the desert and desert fringes into a sufi movement that combined religious piety with trade later it played a key role in the resistance to french and italian colonialism the basis of the movement was laid by the maghrebi scholar muhammad b ali al sanusi 1787 1859 who saw his task as being to advance the growth and spread of islamic learning in particular the study of law and the prophetic tradition the relationship between secularism democracy religion and gender equality has been a complex one across western democracies and still remains contested when we turn to muslim countries the situation is even more multifaceted in the views of many western commentators the question of women rights is the litmus test for muslim societies in the age of democracy and liberalism especially since the arab awakening the issue is usually framed as the opposition between liberal advocates of secular democracy and religious opponents of women's full equality islam gender and democracy in comparative perspective critically reengages this too simple binary opposition by reframing the debate around islam and women's rights within a broader comparative literature bringing together leading scholars from a range of disciplines it examines the complex and contingent historical relationships between religion secularism democracy law and gender equality part one addresses the nexus of religion law gender and democracy through different disciplinary perspectives sociology anthropology political science law part two localizes the implementation of this nexus between law gender and democracy and provides contextualized responses to questions raised in part one the contributors explore the situation of muslim women's rights in minority conditions to shed light on the gender politics in the modernization of the nation and to ponder on the role of islam in gender inequality across different muslim countries diplomatic relations between the united states and libya have rarely followed a smooth path washington has repeatedly tried and failed to mediate lasting solutions to prevent recurrent crises and to secure its own national interests in a region of increasing importance to the united states libya and the united states two centuries of strife provides a unique and up to date analysis of u s libyan relations assessing within the framework of conventional historical narrative the interaction of the governments and peoples of libya and the united states over the past two centuries drawing on a wide range of new and unfamiliar material ronald bruce st john an expert with over thirty years of experience in international relations charts the instances of ignorance misunderstanding treachery and suffering on both sides that have shaped and limited commercial and diplomatic intercourse st john argues that cold war strategies resulted in a paradoxical and ambiguous u s policy toward libya during the idris regime of the 1960s strategies that contributed to the bankruptcy of that monarchy following the libyan revolution the u s wrongly believed qaddafi would become an ally in support of u s policy to keep soviet influence and communism out of the region his failure to do so marked the beginning of an era of political tension and mutual distrust libya and the united states two centuries of strife documents how long standing policy differences over the palestinian issue and such terrorist acts as the destruction of the u s embassy in tripoli and the pan am explosion over lockerie in 1988 resulted in a sharp deterioration of relations st john contends that the ensuing demonization of libya and the u s policy of confrontation which has spanned successive administrations in washington have ironically often not served american interests in the region but rather have facilitated qaddafi's survival islam encourages business and financial transactions as a way of securing the basic needs for all human beings but these need to be conducted in accordance with the principles contained in the qur'an and sunnah however these legal concepts are not classified subject wise and the verses on commercial law like all other topics are scattered throughout the qur'an making it difficult for readers to gain a full understanding of the topic this therefore is the first comprehensive book to demystify islamic contract law and specifically islamic financial contracts and to examine its roots and history the book is written in a clear style to allow for a greater understanding of the more challenging and misunderstood areas pertaining to islamic business and financial contracts it also contributes a series of chapters which address the market niche and need concerning shariah compliance for islamic financial products and services the book is divided into 16 chapters in order to provide a holistic and thorough overview of islamic law of contract it covers the objections and misconceptions surrounding islamic business and financial contracts it also includes the key features and guiding principles of islamic law of contract and offers technical know how illustrating the concept of formation of a contract as well as the essential elements of a valid contract the authors also offer a discussion on the system of options under islamic business and financial contracts and potential solutions to breach of contracts the book will serve as a handy reference for scholars and students of islamic business and finance and islamic commercial law and will also be beneficial for practitioners as well as legal and judicial officers it will open new doors for further research in the field of islamic financial contracts this book explores matters that have negatively affected the public image and led to distorted depictions of islam from the late nineteenth century to the present the areas of uneasiness and debate among muslims and non muslims alike include islamic values and identity in the post caliphate era after colonialism and now under western hegemony there is anxiety about the place of sharia in the light of western law and the state secularism democracy human rights the equality of women and the place of islamic education in transmitting islamic values as secular education dominates societies there are apprehensions over the relation between religion and politics as in the rise of muslim brotherhoods wahhabism islamism al qaeda and islamic state in non muslim countries concerns are about the status of muslim marriage polygamy divorce and interest in business every topic is examined through the noble quran and the hadith classical writings and linguistic analysis
