cannabis is a flowering plant that is native to central asia and the indian subcontinent cannabis provides for the diverse uses of hemp for medicinal purposes and for recreational use tetrahydrocannabinol thc is the main psychoactive element inside the drug the breeding process is based upon the end term use and in the end results in a high or low proportion of cannabinoids that is an interesting question cannabis has been used for a variety of reasons the use of medical marijuana the other name of cannabis has been promoted by many healthcare providers in the modern era it has often been prescribed as a source of pain relief for illnesses such as glaucoma the soothing effect makes the pain of glaucoma manageable the other use which can be called the more popular use by far is for recreational purposes it has fortunately or sadly whichever way you want to look at it become a rite of passage for many adolescences you can never claim to have had the perfect high school experience if you have never had a hit of pot thus this trend has perpetrated and has been immortalized in popular culture and in in all depictions of modern life on film television music and literature the recreational use of cannabis can be effectively traced to the hippie movements that sprung up in the late sixties and reached their peak in the seventies this counter cultural movement started off as a rebellion against the traditional and conservative society in light of the changing times they shunned materialism and coveting all things worldly practiced free love they adopted a nomadic and all accepting lifestyle and most relevantly they brought cannabis to the fore cannabis for them was a benign drug that gave incredible pleasure a statistic that illustrates the percentage of cannabis use in america at the time when the hippie movement was taking off was only 4 that means that only 4 of all americans had ever tried this drug now the sum may have gone up to over times that the entertainment industry has had a huge impact on the pervasive use of cannabis their contribution can be judged as the build up to cannabis being once again being regarded as a socially acceptable drug that is benign although it has hallucinogenic effects
