England, motivated by economic opportunities, national prestige, and religious ambitions, sponsored expeditions to establish colonies. The Virginia Company of London, a joint-stock company, was granted a charter by King James I to establish a settlement in the region of present-day Virginia. The Voyage and Settlement of 1607 In December 1606, three ships—the Susan Constant, the Godspeed, and the Discovery—set sail from England with over 100 settlers. The settlement was initially intended as a commercial venture, but it faced immediate difficulties.
