this book brings together a collection of essays on the teaching of writing it is a companion to prue goodwin s the literate classroom and the articulate classroom and aims to augment our existing knowledge about the teaching and learning of writing stimulate thought and provoke discussion about writing offer a blend of theory and practice give food for thought and ideas for teaching writing to primary age children the topic of writing is one which is under the spotlight with increasing regularity as politicians and policy makers move on from reading as an issue this has already happened in england where the national literacy strategy is urging more emphasis on the teaching of writing to remedy weaknesses in this area a guided skills based journey is a series of books aimed at developing key reading and study skills this brilliant new series provides teachers with a wide variety of genres both fiction and non fiction which will allow children to access interpret and understand what they are reading it increases the child s knowledge and understanding of why certain words are chosen by an author it gives the reader the chance to speculate on the tone and purpose of the texts as well as consider both the texts themes and audience bringing sophisticated philosophy to bear on real life historiography values objectivity and explanation in historiography rekindles and invigorates the debate on two perennials in the theory and methodology of history one is the tension between historians values and the ideal or illusion of objective historiography the other is historical explanation the point of departure for the treatment of values and objectivity is an exceptionally heated debate on cold war historiography in denmark involving not only historians but also the political parties the national newspapers and the courts the in depth analysis that follows concludes that historians can produce accounts that deserve the label objective even though their descriptions are tinged by ineluctable epistemic instability a separate chapter dissects the postmodern notion of situated truths the second part of the book proffers a new take on historical explanation it is based on the notion of the ideal explanatory text which allows for not only causal including intentional but also nomological structural and functional explanations the approach which can accommodate narrative explanations driven by causal plots is ecumenical but not all encompassing emergent social properties and supernatural entities are excluded from the ideal explanatory text making scientific historiography methodologically individualistic albeit with room for explanations at higher levels when pragmatically justified and atheist the open access version of this book available at taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a creative commons attribution non commercial no derivative license
