this book highlights the principal themes and elements in the making of the landscape and the sources which can assist historians and historical geographers in studying and understanding irish landscape history major and local sources relating to the natural environment cultural landscapes and the built environment are explored the book also looks at representations of landscapes in literature painting and other artistic sources which can provide insights into the nature of real and imagined worlds of the past the ultimate source which features prominently throughout this study is the landscape itself on which generations before us have inscribed the marks of their presence in fields farms houses villages towns roads lanes and the infrastructure of settlement book jacket english country lanes is a lyrical celebration of the beauties of the lanes of the english countryside garth lovett jones who has travelled through and photographed the lanes for over twenty years has produced in a perfect unity of text and pictures the most comprehensive book on the lanes yet published the emphasis throughout is on exploring by bicycle pootling in the words of the author and the book rejects the stance of conventional guide books which lead the reader passively by the hand and replaces it with an exhortation to pioneering independence by giving details of ten networks ranging from yorkshire to somerset he demonstrates how we can all discover the delights of the lanes for ourselves the book also takes a long hard look at the destruction going on unnoticed every day in the countryside and calls for measures to stop this and to begin restoring something of what has been lost a combination of celebration and elegy english country lanes is a visual feast as well as thought provoking and exhilarating the notion of landscape is a complex one but it has been central to the art and artistry of the cinema after all what is the french new wave without paris what are the films of sidney lumet woody allen martin scorsese and spike lee without new york cinema and landscape frames contemporary film landscapes across the world in an exploration of screen aesthetics and national ideology film form and cultural geography cinematic representation and the human environment written by well known cinema scholars this volume both extends the existing field of film studies and stakes claims to overlapping contested territories in the humanities and social sciences the author intends to ensure that the practice potentialities and limitations of aerial archaeological photography are more widely and fully understood the primary emphasis of the book is on mediterranean countries which offer a wide scope for aerial discovery there is a deliberate ambiguity in the title the new european landscape applies both to the new designed landscapes which are the main theme of the book and to the landscape context with which i am principally concerned in the introductory chapters the enclosed garden or hortus conclusus is a place where architecture architectural elements and landscape come together it has a long history ranging from the paradise garden and cloister the botanic garden and the giardini segreto the kitchen garden and the stage for social display to its many modern forms the city retreat the redemptive garden and the deconstructed building by its nature it is ambiguous is it an outdoor room or captured landscape is it garden or architecture kate baker discusses the continuing relevance of the typology of the enclosed garden to contemporary architects by exploring influential historical examples alongside some of the best of contemporary designs brought to life with vivid photography and detailed drawings taken mainly from britain the mediterranean japan and south america she argues that understanding the potential of the enclosed garden requires us to think of it as both a design and an experience as climate change becomes an increasingly important component of architectural planning the enclosed garden which can mediate so effectively between interior and exterior provides opportunities for sustainable design and closer contact with the natural landscape study of the evolution of enclosed gardens and the concepts they generate is a highly effective means for students to learn about the design requirements of outdoor space proximal to the built environment captured landscape provides architectural design undergraduates and practising architects with a broad range of information and design possibilities it will also appeal to landscape architects horticulturalists and a wider audience of all those who are interested in garden design
