we are the most fortunate generation that has ever lived and we are the most fortunate generation that ever will george monbiot what george monbiot means by this is that our civilization has leveraged the awesome power of fossil energy to create a world that only a short time ago would have been nearly unimaginable our health our wealth our leisure our freedom from tyranny and struggle are all benefits bestowed upon us by harnessed energy of oil and coal but the price of these gifts has been a growing environmental crisis our atmosphere is filling up with carbon dioxide which is released by the burning of fossil fuels carbon dioxide traps the sun s heat causing the temperature of our planet to rise the reason why future generations are unlikely to be as fortunate as us is that fossil energy is just too good to be true we cannot go on enjoying the benefits of this dirty energy we must either address the problem which will be a tough challenge involving many sacrifices or ignore it with unthinkable consequences george monbiot s heat how to stop the planet from burning marks an important moment in our civilization s thinking about global warming the question is no longer whether climate change is actually happening the question is what to do about it monbiot offers an ambitious and far reaching program to cut our carbon dioxide emissions to the point where the environmental scales start tipping away from catastrophe but not before he devotes a chapter to unmasking the vested interests that have spent fortunes funding the specious science of the climate change deniers he does not pretend it will be easy the threshold for disaster he argues is a rise of two degrees centigrade above pre industrial levels past two degrees science tells us the ability to control climate change passes out of our hands at that point the world s forests will fall into decline changing cloud formation patterns and releasing the billions of tons of carbon the trees store past two degrees the permafrost begins to thaw releasing billions of tons of methane a greenhouse gas far more destructive than co2 at the same point the polar ice begins to melt affecting ocean currents and water levels this is called a positive feedback loop and it means that once we ve passed two degrees

nothing can be done to stop it rising to three and once we hit three four will follow two degrees is also the point at which the globe slides towards increasing water scarcity and eventually food deficit and the fact is we re already seeing the consequences of climate change around the globe collapsing ice shelves the failure of the cyclical rains in eastern africa drought in australia the spread of tropical diseases into new territory as temperatures rise pollution of aquifers with salt water in bangladesh global temperatures have already risen 0.6 of a degree causing huge damage to the natural environment and inflicting suffering on vast numbers of people the only way to avoid further devastation and forestall the catastrophe of positive feedback monbiot argues is a 90 cut in co2 emissions in the rich nations of the world by 2030 in other words our response will have to be immediate and it will have to be decisive but where to start monbiot starts at home where we have most control though he draws his examples from the uk and commends canadians for our superior building standards he makes a damning case that the buildings we live and work in squander energy since our heat and electricity produce co2 nearly every bit of heat and power we waste like nearly every bit of heat and power we use commits us to greenhouse gas emissions monbiot finds ways for us to build and live so much better that we can cut emissions at home by the required 90 he then looks at the source of our electricity and evaluates the arguments for both local micro generation for example solar photovoltaic panels and small wind turbines and renewable energy for the grid his research leads him to some unexpected discoveries but he finds a way to trim our emissions by the necessary margin another obvious source of co2 emissions is our transportation the cars we drive and the flights we take a little ingenuity he argues will allow us to deal with the former but the latter he acknowledges is shaping up to be the achilles heel of all efforts to curb greenhouse gas emissions a couple of less obvious major sources of co2 are the retail and construction industries big box stores with their inefficient designs their racks of heaters air conditioners and blazing lights to say nothing of the sprawling parking lots full of cars that drive back and forth on shopping trips are simply inconsistent with a low carbon future but monbiot has a thoughtful and surprisingly simple solution similarly the concrete industry that backbone of all new construction emits millions of tons each year as a consequence of the immense heat and chemical processes involved in the manufacturing process though the solution here is not as ready to hand it is still possible in short the scale of the changes before us is staggering as is the size of the problem but monbiot ends on a note of hope we have shown ourselves to be capable of enormous ingenuity and great feats of cooperation and sacrifice when confronted with a serious threat the second world war provides countless examples of citizens and engineers doing the supposedly impossible in order to get the job done fighting climate change will not require young men to die in battle but a failure to tackle the problem urgently and with all the determination we can muster will cost uncountable lives there is no reason to think we will do less when faced with a threat to the sustainability of all life on the planet than we did when faced with a threat to our political and ethical values monbiot argues there is no time to waste as he has said himself we are the last generation that can make this happen and this is the last possible moment at which we can make it happen
