One of a series of reference volumes each examining a cultural period of a particular nation, culture is used in a broad sense to encompass all the ways in which a people define themselves including a wide scope of human communication and expression from advertising to fine art. Famous individuals are also covered such as John C. Gage, Jackson Pollock, Richard Burton, Mussolini, Lenin, and Aretha Franklin. In addition, the text defines the entries and describes and analyzes the influence and significance of each one. For example, an entry on abstract expressionism will not only define the movement but will also describe what it means to us and what it says about us. Entries range from 50 to 1000 words with between 500 and 1000 entries appearing in each individual volume.

Mexican women writers moved to the forefront of their country's literature in the twentieth century. Among those who began publishing in the 1970s and 1980s are Maria Luisa Puga, Silvia Molina, Brianda Domecq, Carmen Boullosa, and Angeles Mastretta. Sharing a range of affinities while maintaining distinctive voices and outlooks, these are the women whom Gabriella de Beer has chosen to profile in Contemporary Mexican Women Writers. De Beer takes a three-part approach to each writer: she opens with an essay that explores the writer's apprenticeship and discusses her major works; next, she interviews each writer to learn about her background, writing, and view of herself and others; finally, de Beer offers selections from the writer's work that have not been previously published in English translation. Each section concludes with a complete bibliographic listing of the writer's works and their English translations. These essays, interviews, and selections vividly recreate the experience of being with the writer and sharing her work: hearing her tell about and evaluate herself and reading the words she has written. The book will be rewarding reading for everyone who enjoys fine writing
