for much of the twentieth century most religious and secular jewish thinkers believed that they were witnessing a steady ongoing movement toward secularization toward the end of the century however as scholars and pundits began to speak of the global resurgence of religion the normalization of secularism could no longer be considered inevitable recent decades have seen the strengthening of orthodox movements in the united states and in israel religious zionism has grown and radically changed since the 1960s and new and vibrant nondenominational jewish movements have emerged secularism in question examines the ways these contemporary revivals of religion prompt a reconsideration of many issues concerning jews and judaism from the early modern era to the present bringing together scholars of history religion philosophy and literature this volume illustrates how the categories of religious and secular have frequently proven far more permeable than fixed the contributors challenge the problematic assumptions about the development of secularism that emerge from protestant european and american perspectives and demonstrate that global jewish experiences necessitate a reappraisal of conventional narratives of secularism ultimately secularism in question calls for rethinking the very terms that animate many of the most contentious debates in contemporary jewish life and far beyond contributors michal ben horin aryeh edrei jonathan mark gribetz ari joskowicz ethan b katz eva lezzi vivian liska rachel manekin david myers amnon raz krakotzkin andrea schatz christophe schulte daniel b schwartz galili shahar scott ury
