Christofer F. Daiberl explores how to enhance the productivity of services delivered by a network of co-providers harnessing empirical insights and synthesizing contributions from service design, information systems and engineering. The author develops a systematic productivity improvement technique. The technique supports practitioners to iteratively discover and seize opportunities to enhance productivity for their own organization, customers and relevant co-providers, reflecting on the overall results. Five general design principles are proposed that support the development of new artifacts fostering truly productive services in a networked world.
