seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject didactics for the subject english literature works grade a usa 1 southern connecticut state university english department course the contemporary african novel language english abstract things fall apart is a story about personal beliefs and customs and also a story about conflict there is struggle between family culture and religion of the igbo people which is all brought on by a difference in personal beliefs and customs finally we see how things fall apart when these beliefs and customs are confronted by those of the white missionaries according to ernest n emenyonu things fall apart is a classic study of crosscultural misunderstanding and the consequences to the rest of humanity when a belligerent culture or civilization out of sheer arrogance and ethnocentrism takes it upon itself to invade another culture another civilization p 84 chinua achebe is a product of both native african and european culture achebe s education in english and exposure to european customs have allowed him to capture at the same time the european and the african perspectives on colonial expansion religion race and culture this has a great effect on the composition of the novel because he is able to tell the story with an understanding and personal experiences in both cultures he does not portray the african culture and their beliefs as barbaric he simply tells it as it is and how things happened chinua achebe states that neither of the cultures were bad but they simply had a difference in beliefs in the first section of this paper i would like to outline some important aspects of the traditional igbo culture as presented in things fall apart achebe argues that the white man has destroyed igbo culture out of ignorance of the people s way of life and the white man s inability to speak the people s language the second section deals with christianity and the colonizers i will compare the igbo systems to a certain extent to the new system the white man brought to nigeria later on i will examine the effects of the colonizers arrival and their religion on the indigenous culture giving special attention to okonkwo the main character of the novel

in Things Fall Apart Chinua Achebe articulates and dramatizes a unique and peculiar kind of rhetoric a rhetoric that emphasizes that man and not language is the site for social interaction the oracle and the bull are synthesized metamorphosed laced and condensed to form an alchemy which produces a cohesive communal community as the end result this African rhetoric displays a language that is innocent unlike the Western European rhetoric where language dramatizes multiple voices this critical text focuses on Achebe's rhetoric from the Aristotelian style provides an analysis and critique of Things Fall Apart discussing the plot narrative style themes literary devices and characters and offers a brief overview of Achebe's other works seminar paper from the year 2003 in the subject English language and literature studies literature grade 2 b university of Tübingen new philology fakulty language English abstract Things Fall Apart is Chinua Achebe's first novel it is about the land of the Ibo in the eastern region of present day Nigeria in the period between 1850 1900 it is the period shortly before and after the arrival of the white men in this part of West Africa Achebe's nineteenth century Africa witnesses the end of an era and the beginning of twentieth century Europeanization with all its implied consequences for another stage the future history of postcolonial Africa Things Fall Apart gives us a vision of the Ibo's life in a part of Africa called Umuofia its history and their cultural religious and political traditions also it allows us an insight into the differences and problems between the established tradition that is the Ibo tradition and the emerging traditions of the white colonizers Things Fall Apart is not only the drama of a whole society but it also reflects the tragedy of one man Okonkwo that is worked out of his personal conflicts as well as out of the contrariness of his destiny this novel shows the changes which have taken place in Ibo as a result of the encounter between Europe and Africa during the imperial colonial period Things Fall Apart consists of three parts the first part is set in Umuofia before the arrival of the white men in the second part the protagonist's Okonkwo's banishment from Umuofia to Mbanta is dramatized and the arrival of the white men is reported the third section shows the tragic fall of Okonkwo and the decay of the old ways of life in Ibo society in my essay i want to discuss whether Achebe's novel is a diagnosis of decay or rather a report on modernization in my first section i want to give a short insight into the traditional Ibo society the second part will focus on the thematic of decay both for the society as well as for Okonkwo. In my next part I will concentrate on aspects of modernization. In the last part of this essay I will try to bring this novel in a broader context and will try to examine the aspects of decay and modernization on the basis of Foucault's discourse theory and therefore his theory on modernization.

Reader's Guides provide a comprehensive starting point for any advanced student, giving an overview of the context, criticism, and influence of key works. Each guide also offers students fresh critical insights and provides a practical introduction to close reading and to analysing literary language and form. They provide up-to-date, authoritative but accessible guides to the most commonly studied classic texts. Chinua Achebe's remarkable novel Things Fall Apart (1958) is probably the best-known African novel and has become one of the world's most influential literary masterpieces. Since publication, a total of nearly 12 million copies have been sold, with translations into more than 50 languages. Despite its undoubted success, its apparent simplicity has tended to blind readers to the dazzling storytelling resources and the inventive language, plot, setting, and characterization which first draw them to the novel and keep them reading. This is the ideal guide to the text, setting Things Fall Apart in its historical, intellectual, and cultural contexts, offering analyses of its themes, style, and structure, providing exemplary close readings, presenting an up-to-date account of its critical reception, and examining its afterlife in literature, film, and popular culture. It includes points for discussion, suggestions for further study, and an annotated guide to relevant reading.

Great literary works resonate with readers not only because of well-developed characters and plots but also because they often reflect important social themes. The Social Issues in Literature series brings together the disciplines of sociology and literature in a unique format designed to support cross-curricular studies. Each volume explores a work of literature through the lens of the major social issue reflected in it and features carefully selected content representing a variety of perspectives. All volumes in the series contain biographical and critical information about the author, secondary excerpts offering both historical and contemporary views of the highlighted social issue, a timeline of the author's life, a further reading section of other works on the issue, and a detailed subject index. Book jacket.
