the results agenda adopted by the world bank and other donors aims to ensure that development assistance yields sustainable poverty reduction effective poverty reduction results from three main factors sustained and inclusive growth effective service delivery to the poor and capable public sector institutions that are accountable to stakeholders for the results they achieve the annual review of development effectiveness 2006 assembles evaluative evidence around three questions central to poverty reduction how effectively has economic growth translated into poverty reduction in bank assisted countries and what factors have affected these results what factors have led to high quality results in areas that deliver services to the poor what measures help raise the accountability of public institutions responsible for delivering and sustaining these results the report identifies three key areas where the world bank can further strengthen its effectiveness in helping countries reduce poverty economic growth has improved in many bank client countries but a stronger focus on the nature of growth is needed to ensure that such growth leads to jobs for the poor and productivity increases in poorer regions and sectors where the poor earn their incomes consistent use of a clearly articulated results chain helps ensure that bank country assistance programs and individual projects set realistic objectives that key cross sectoral constraints to achieving them are adequately considered and that due attention is given to building capacity a realistic assessment of the political economy of governance related reforms is needed to tailor efforts to increase the accountability of public sector institutions to local conditions arde 2003 examines the effectiveness of bank support for developing country policy reform it finds that bank support has contributed to reform in a number of cases but there are also cases where the bank's support has not been associated with improvements in the policy environment the annual review of development effectiveness 2009 presents evidence on the world bank s efforts in two areas part i tracks the outcomes of bank projects and country programs and the evolution of monitoring and evaluation m and e part ii examines the bank s support for environmentally sustainable development compatible with economic growth and poverty reduction the bank s project performance rebounded in 2008 allaying concerns about the weakened performance in 2007 as previous ardes have shown project performance has been improving gradually for 15 years according to the traditional measure percent of projects with satisfactory versus unsatisfactory outcomes but ieg ratings of m and e quality for completed projects indicate considerable room for progress information to assess impacts continues to be lacking although preliminary data suggests improvements in baseline data collection bank support for the environment has recovered since 2002 due to new sources of concessional finance the outcomes of environment projects have improved in recent years a growing number of regional projects are addressing the shared use of water resources new global partnerships are deepening the bank s involvement in climate change issues but m and e remains weak three quarters of environment related projects those managed by sectors other than environment lack reporting of environmental outcomes the report assesses the world bank group s support for growth and productivity in the agriculture sector enhancing agricultural growth and productivity is essential to meeting the worldwide demand for food and to reducing poverty particularly in the poorest developing countries between 1998 and 2008 the period covered by this evaluation the world bank group wbg provided 23 7 billion in financing for agriculture and agribusiness in 108 countries roughly 8 percent of total wbg financing spanning areas from irrigation and marketing to research and extension however this was a time of declining focus on agricultural growth and productivity by both countries and donors the cost of inadequate attention to agriculture especially in agriculture based economies came into focus with the food crisis of 2007 08 the crisis added momentum to an emerging renewal of attention and stepped up financing to agriculture and agribusiness at the world bank and international finance corporation ifc as well as at several multilateral and bilateral agencies world bank financing rose two and a half times from 2008 to 2009 though that increase in lending seems to have been accompanied by a decline in analytical work which this review finds valuable for results this evaluation seeks to provide lessons from successes and failures to help improve the development impact of the renewed attention to the sector ratings against the world bank s stated objectives and ifc's market based benchmarks for agriculture and agribusiness projects have been equal to or above portfolio averages in east asia latin america and the transition economies in europe with notable successes over a long period in china and india but performance of wbg interventions has been well below average in sub saharan africa where ifc has had little engagement in agribusiness inconsistent client commitment and weak capacity have limited the effectiveness of wbg support in agriculture based economies particularly in sub saharan africa and constraints on staffing and internal coordination within the wbg have also hurt outcomes financial sustainability has been constrained by insufficient government funding and the difficulty of maintaining agricultural services and infrastructure the wbg has a unique opportunity to match the increases in the financing for agriculture with sharper focus on improving agricultural growth and productivity in agriculture based economies notably in sub saharan africa greater effort will be needed to connect sectoral interventions and achieve synergies from public and private sector interventions to build capacity and knowledge exchange to take stock of experience in rain fed agriculture to ensure attention to financial sustainability and to cross cutting issues of gender environmental and social impacts and climate and to better integrate wbg support at the global and regional levels with that at the country level
