moorhouse in his use of the bible was a man apart in the sphere of evangelism like others of his day he rose from the ranks of the poor and broke from associations with drunkards and music hall frequenters and the sing song of the mid victorian day was debased indeed from such a quagmire of sin and folly he emerged riveting the interest of great audiences and creating not merely a strong aff ection for himself which he counted as nothing but a sense of joy and delight in redemption s plan and in the lovely pages of prophet and apostle wherein by the inspiration of the spirit that plan is set forth in two continents the name of moorhouse came to be suffi cient among many people to arouse deep interest and profound attention of education he had little or none yet he was familiar with the ways of men and developed a wonderful gift for winning the ear of the multitude his personal appearance was by no means calculated to impress so frail was he so boyish in simplicity but when once his tongue was unloosed and the stores of his warm heart and alert mind were brought forth men were fascinated by his glowing words being moreover the more surprised that so much skill and so much fervour lay hidden beneath so ordinary an exterior wherefore as he expounded scripture still the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew excerpt from henry moorhouse the english evangelist
