this book is the first to tackle the difficult and complex politics of transition in zimbabwe with deep historical analysis its focus is on a very problematic political culture that is proving very hard to transcend at the center of this culture is an unstable but resilient nationalist military alliance crafted during the anti colonial liberation struggle in the 1970s inevitably violence misogyny and masculinity are constitutive of the political culture economically speaking the culture is that of a bureaucratic parasitic primitive accumulation and corruption which include invasion and emptying of state coffers by a self styled chimurenga aristocracy however this chimurenga aristocracy is not cohesive as the politics that led to robert mugabe s ousting from power was preceded by dirty and protracted internal factionalism at the center of the factional politics was the first family robert mugabe and his wife grace mugabe this book offers a multidisciplinary examination of the complex contemporary politics in zimbabwe taking seriously such issues as gender misogyny militarism violence media identity modes of accumulation the ethnicization of politics attempts to open lines of credit and fdi national healing and the national question as key variables not only of a complete political culture but also of difficult transitional politics in the twentieth century many countries around the globe experienced rapid and often traumatic political transformations from east germany and northern ireland to argentina chile and zimbabwe political transition has been momentous and has had a deep impact on the individual culture of each society this collection explores these periods of political transition and the impact that they have had through an analysis of memory identity space place and voice concentrating in particular on post colonial and post oppressive regimes in europe southern africa and latin america the contributors assess how individuals come to terms with rapid political change and the enduring legacies of the past in the present they examine how political transformations affect people s memories and identities reworking spaces places and voices and how both official and unofficial mechanisms set up to cope with these changes impact on these issues juxtaposing different country and regional experiences and different historical eras this is a comprehensive guide to the vast range of issues involved in political transition how does a political regime evolve how and when does an old regime turn itself into a new one when does a political change occur what is the first thing to change in a political transformation and what is the degree and the speed of this change what are the causes of this transformation and when exactly does this change end when the new regime is completely established what concepts can we use to understand each moment of the political transition how can we think about the whole process in 2005 brazil completes twenty continuous years of civil government a striking exception in the country s history all of then except one chosen by direct elections the long transition from the dictatorial regime to a non dictatorial one not necessarily democratic begin in 1974 fifteen years after in 1989 a new stage in this process begins overcoming the instability of the national political scene from this moment on the consolidation of democracy becomes the central problem of the national political agenda there are many ways of telling and explaining this history this book presents a survey of the different interpretations of this important period of brazilian history and at the same time outlines some criticisms on the mainstream interpretations in brazilian political science this book explores how states in political transition use stamps to promote a new visual nationalism stamps as products of the state and provide small pieces of information about a state s heritage culture economies and place in the world these depictions change over time reflecting political and cultural changes and developments the volume explores the transition times in more than a dozen countries from africa latin america asia and europe specifically addressed are the stamp topics issues and themes in the years before and after such major changes occurred for example from a european colony to political independence or from a dictatorship to democracy the authors compare the personalities histories and cultural representations before the transition period and how the state used the after event to define or redefine its place on the world political map the final three chapters consider international themes on many stamp issues one being stamps with disney cartoon characters another on themeless forever stamps and the third on states celebrating women and their accomplishments this volume has wide interdisciplinary relevance and should prove of particular interest to those studying geopolitics political transition visual nationalism soft power and visual representations of decolonializing in twelve essays influential scholars in political science explore the meaning of political leadership from the kaleidoscopic perspectives of the leaders institutions goals procedures problems and traditions involved the approaches as varied as the subject itself coalesce around the central question of how leaders interact with transform or are controlled by the organizations they lead in the past twenty years the study of urban politics has shifted from a predominant concern with political culture and ethos to a preoccupation with political economy particularly that of urban development urban scholars have come to recognize that cities are shaped by forces beyond their boundaries from that focus have emerged the views that cities are clearly engaged in economic competition that market processes are shaped by national policy decisions sometimes intentionally and sometimes inadvertently and that the costs and benefits of economic growth are unevenly distributed but what else needs to be said about the policies and politics of urban development to supplement prevailing theories the politics of urban development argues that the role of local actors in making development decisions merits closer study whatever the structural constraints politics still matters collectively the essays provide ample evidence that local government officials and other community actors do not simply follow the imperatives that derive from the national political economy they are able to assert a significant degree of influence over the shared destiny of an urban population the impact of the collection is to heighten awareness of local political practices and of how and why they make a difference for many years a neglected figure nikolai bukharin has recently been the subject of renewed interest in the west now regarded as a leading marxist theorist bukharin s work has wide appeal to those interested in soviet history and marxist economics as well as to those concerned with theories of development and socialist economies this present book examines some of the key features of the interplay between legal history authoritarian rule and political transitions in brazil and other countries from the end of 20th century until today this book casts light on these aspects of the role of law and legal actors institutions in the context of transition from authoritarian rule to democratic state brazil has produced a significant literature on the challenges and shortcomings of the transition but little attention has been given to the role of law and legal actors institutions different approaches focus on the legal mechanisms discourses and practices used by the military regime and by the players involved in the political transition process in brazil a comparative perspective that takes into account different political transitions and their legal consequences in europe and latin america complements the analysis part 1 4 essays discusses some of the central issues of political transition and legal history in contemporary brazil focusing on the time of the transition and its effects on transitional justice with different perspectives from racial and gender issues to constitutional reform and police repression part 2 3 essays brings the comparative studies on south american experiences part 3 4 essays analyses different cases of transition to democracy in chile portugal spain and italy part 4 3 essays proposes a historiographical and methodological approach considering the politics of time involved in the interplay between political transitions and legal history this volume brings together ten distinguished scholars of history literature music theatre and art to explore the political and cultural implications of the court s transgressive new character this text explores the principle reasons for the dissatisfaction with established political categories and outlines some of the most influential responses to it the objective of this paper is to highlight the crucial importance of security sector reform during the challenging time of democratic transition many security services in arab countries do not utilize modern management practices or computer based administrative systems and lack human resources and career development departments let alone an inspector general s office to ensure discipline or an internal affairs section to address public complaints this paper argues that any sustainable governance reform of the social contract in arab countries in transition is inextricably linked to a new concept of the security sector based on good governance principles that could permeate a new political consensus profound institutional reforms and a new legal framework security services in these countries must change to serve the public rather than the political interest for the purpose of accountability efficiency and professionalism and in order to create a culture of institutionalization civilian oversight of the security sector is essential for their part new civilian leaders must ensure that the security sector receives proper equipment and an adequate budget particularly for salaries and training security sector reform in the arab region must be a cultural and ideological discussion rather than a merely technical one publisher s description

first published in 1997 and written by two distinguished russian scholars this book examines the problems and prospects of democratic transition in russia since the disintegration of the soviet union specifically it offers a compelling evaluation of the rise and fall of the 1990 russian parliament the problems of transforming what had been a regional assembly into a national parliament are analysed in the context of the failure of perestroika the difficulties of generating pluralist politics the strength of presidential power and the tensions between ideologies of reform on the one hand and the realities of economic crisis on the other the analysis allows them to evaluate the role of political upheaval and conflicts of legitimacy in russian democratization the book is divided into three sections the first offers a theory of transition to modern democracy this provides the framework for the second section an account of the first parliament after the 1990 elections its conflicts with presidential power and the reform agenda of the government and finally its fall the third section examines three particular problems which were decisive in producing the crisis of russian parliamentarianism and democratization voting behaviour in a non party parliamentary setting and its relationship to conflicts between legislature and executive populism and representation and the role of democratic values and procedures in the legislative process drawing on their unrivalled knowledge of issues events and actors nikolai biryukov and victor sergeyev gather and interpret much new evidence to explore their subject in a path breaking study the authors draw on a variety of sources and traditions to produce an original theory of the problems of political stability set up by democratic transition in russia blending theory and case studies this volume explores a vitally important and topical aspect of developmentalism which remains a focal point for scholarly and policy debates around democracy and social development in the global political economy includes case studies from china vietnam india brazil uganda south korea ireland australia
