the present work reports on one phase of an inquiry carried on from 1924 to 1927 by the modern foreign language study and the canadian committee on modern languages working with subventions granted by the carnegie corporation of new york and under the sponsorship of the american council on education the two committees sought to explore as fully as circumstances permitted the situation of modern language teaching in the united states and canada in respect to enrollment standards of achievement the objectives organization materials and methods of instruction and the training of teachers the ultimate object of the investigation was to ascertain the conditions now prevailing in order to be able to draw conclusions for the future and to make suggestions for improvement in instruction as it was necessary to bring the inquiry to an end within a period of three years the committees were obliged to limit their activities in the main to the secondary schools and the corresponding levels of college instruction

this book focuses on the effect of psychological social and demographic variables on student achievement and summarizes the current research findings in the field it addresses the need for inclusive and interpretive studies in the field in order to interpret student achievement literature and suggests new pathways for further studies appropriately a meta analysis approach is used by the contributors to show the big picture to the researchers by analyzing and combining the findings from different independent studies in particular the authors compile various studies examining the relationship between student achievement and 21 psychological social and demographic variables separately the philosophy behind this book is to direct future research and practices rather than addressing the limits of current studies in 2002 the no child left behind act rocked america s schools with new initiatives for results based accountability but years before nclb was signed a new movement was already under way by mayors to take control of city schools from school boards and integrate the management of public education with the overall governing of the city the education mayor is a critical look at mayoral control of urban school districts beginning with boston s schools in 1992 and examining more than 100 school districts in 40 states the authors seek to answer four central questions what does school governance look like under mayoral leadership how does mayoral control affect school and student performance what are the key factors for success or failure of integrated governance how does mayoral control effect practical changes in schools and classrooms the results of their examination indicate that although mayoral control of schools may not be appropriate for every district it can successfully emphasize accountability across the education system providing more leverage for each school district to strengthen its educational infrastructure and improve student performance based on extensive quantitative data as well as case studies this analytical study provides a balanced look at america s education reform as the first multidistrict empirical examination and most comprehensive overall evaluation of mayoral school reform the education mayor is a must read for academics policymakers educational administrators and civic and political leaders concerned about public education
