the first in depth and authoritative treatment of a key concept in le corbusier s work over the last twenty years jeff malpas research has involved his engagement with architects and other academics around the issues of place architecture and landscape and particularly the way these practitioners have used the work of martin heidegger in rethinking dwelling malpas primary focus is to rethink of these issues in a way that is directly informed by an understanding of place and the human relation it with essays on a range of architectural and design concerns as well as engaging with other thinkers on topics including textuality in architecture contemporary high rise construction the significance of the line the relation between building and memory and the idea of authenticity in architecture this book departs from the traditional phenomenological focus and provides students and scholars with a new ontological assessment of landscape and architecture as such it may also be used on other spatial or topographic disciplines including geography sociology anthropology and art in which the spatial turn has been so important in 1923 24 henry frugès a bordeaux industrialist commissioned le corbusier and pierre jeanneret with a small workers housing estate in lège and a garden city in pessac comprising 130 to 150 houses with shops these two housing schemes fitted neatly into the architects research on standardisation and the machine à habiter and provided a useful laboratory for gauging public opinion with regard to mass production techniques in housing estates one of the most striking features of the cité frugès was the use of polychromy on the exterior facades to in le corbusier s own words sculpt the space through the physical quality of colour bring forward some volumes while making others recede in short compose with colour in the same way as we have composed with form this is how architecture is transformed into urbanism historical documents and drawings make this handy sized volume an invaluable guide for visitors and a practical introduction for all architectural enthusiasts the experience of movement of moving through buildings cities landscapes and in everyday life is the only involvement most individuals have with the built environment on a daily basis user experience is so often neglected in architectural study and practice architecture and movement tackles this complex subject for the first time providing the wide range of perspectives needed to tackle this multi disciplinary topic organised in four parts it documents the architect s planner s or designer s approach looking at how they have sought to deploy buildings as a promenade and how they have thought or written about it concentrates on the individual s experience and particularly on the primacy of walking which engages other senses besides the visual engages with society and social rituals and how mutually we define the spaces through which we move both by laying out routes and boundaries and by celebrating thresholds analyses how we deal with promenades which are not experienced directly but via other mediums such as computer models drawings film and television the wide selection of contributors include academics and practitioners and discuss cases from across the us uk europe and asia by mingling such disparate voices in a carefully curated selection of chapters the book enlarges the understanding of architects architectural students designers and planners alerting them to the many and complex issues involved in the experience of movement the experience of architectural spaces is formed by the way they are staged the drama of space examines the composition and articulation of architectural spaces in terms of spatial dramaturgy as a repertoire of means and strategies for shaping spatial experience this fundamental approach to architectural design is presented in four parts archetypal principles of spatial composition are traced from the study of three assembly buildings of the early modern period in venice theatre film music and theory provide background knowledge on dramaturgy detailed analyses of 18 international case studies offer new perspectives on contemporary architecture the book ends with a systematic presentation of the dramaturgy of space its parameters and tools in architectural design this book addresses the built environment through the lens of environmental architecture and in a holistic manner it moves gradually from psychophysiology and thinking doing feeling modalities through environmental criteria to environmental modulation concluding with a debate around mitigation and adaptation much use is made of re interpreting past quotations seen as relevant for environmental architecture no definitive conclusions are reached but rather broad discursive messages are offered the text will have lasting luminance for new generations involved with the built environment in 1952 le corbusier was commissioned to dwell in the silence of men of prayer and study and to construct a church for them the result was his impressive convent of la tourette marking a significant step in modern religious architecture beginning with the rectangular form common to the cistercian monastic tradition he created a building whose stark form contrasts beautifully with the organic elements of the interior court and the grasslands surrounding it the church itself is a model of simplicity the cement has been left rough and the well located sources of light evoke a feeling of silence and reflection the order's precept of prayer study and reflection is aptly mirrored in the architecture like the other le corbusier guides published by birkhäuser this volume provides a wealth of plans details photographs and information on this building which today is also a conference centre this book delves into the life and work of architect william richard lethaby 1857 1931 and his relationship with the occult and alchemy in particular using detailed analysis of lethaby's drawings and architecture the research uncovers lethaby's familiarity with occult concepts and ideology during the spiritual revolution of the nineteenth century throughout this time countless individuals particularly members of the avant garde rejected more traditional religious pathways and sought answers through experimental and mystical alternatives william lethaby symbolism and the occult reveals how the architect was profoundly influenced by the zeitgeist which was saturated with references to spiritualism mysticism and the occult and explores the impact of occultism on his contemporaries and the wider arts and crafts movement this book is written for upper level students researchers and academics interested in architectural history william lethaby and nineteenth century culture and society charles Édouard jeanneret known as le corbusier 1887 1965 influenced the design function and construction of office and residential buildings as well as twentieth century art and design however there has not yet been an extensive precise examination of his role as an artist for more than five decades le corbusier oscillated between contradictory poles his dedication to mechanical objects on the one hand and his search for poetic form on the other the mutual inspiration stemming from aesthetic versus creative took place in his secret laboratory the artist's studio this is the first publication to consolidate all of the facets of his oeuvre and it arrives at new approaches toward understanding his paintings drawings sculptures tapestries furniture architectural sketches and plans as well as his books and photographs the book's five chapters cover a wide spectrum ranging from the purist paintings and early villas to le corbusier's reinterpretation of values and his late works exhibition schedule moderna museet stockholm january 19 april 18 2013
