- B Intellectual Property Laws: Copyright, patent, and trademark laws protect creators and inventors in the digital realm. Infringement can lead to civil lawsuits and criminal prosecution.
- C Privacy Laws: Laws like GDPR in Europe and CCPA in California aim to protect individuals' personal data. They regulate data collection, use, and sharing and grant individuals certain rights regarding their data.
- D Defamation and Libel Laws: These laws protect individuals' reputations from false and harmful statements made online. The legal standards for online defamation can be complex, particularly considering the potential for widespread dissemination of information.
