from its source in south west germany coursing through central europe and the balkans the danube is a river of romance passing medieval castles baroque churches and rococo palaces europe s second longest river it flows through proud cities vienna budapest bratislava forming the frontier between romania and bulgaria before branching into a delta and pouring into the black sea this way the danube sails along the navigable stretch of the river between passau and mohács near the hungarian border with croatia the cruise that this book illustrates travels through four countries germany austria slovakia and hungary this book is intended for the use of tourists enjoying a boat cruise in germany on the danube the rhine main danube canal between nuremberg and budapest the book describes the places that can be visited in this region the book is amply illustrated with photographs in many of the cities a large book would be required to describe all the sights available for the tourist on a cruise such as this to keep the size of the publication and the sale price within reasonable limits it is not feasible to enter into an in depth account on each city stop where the tourist requires more details on the sights visited it is advised that a detailed tour book is used to supplement this book the book like the cruise itself is a taster for the visits to the cities that are described following the cruise the tourist may well be encouraged to make a separate visit to places seen during the river cruise this book describes the sights that could be encountered in a brief visit made during a river cruise a visit usually of a few hours sometimes of a day or two in such places where the author thought it was necessary some historical background is given relating to ww2 and the places visited the cities described are nuremberg regensburgpassausalzburglinzmelkdürnsteinviennabratislavbudapest in the last few years the quantity of books and papers on the political economic and legal problems of the exploration and use of the sea and marine resources has considerably increased but the status and activities of international organizations related to maritime shipping fisheries scientific research in the world ocean and the protection of the marine environment have not yet as a whole been represented in the scientific and reference literature it would be fair though to mention that some general information on marine international organizations may be found in the yearbook of international organizations brussels 1979 in annotated acronyms and abbreviations of marine science related international organizations u s department of commerce 1976 and in the un annotated directory of intergovernmental organizations concerned with ocean affairs 1976 voluminous information on organizations engaged in problems of the exploration and use of the sea is given in international marine organizations by the well known polish scientists lopuski and symonides 1978 meanwhile the increasing volume of practical work related to the participation of governmental and scientific bodies as well as individual scientists and specialists in these organizations the necessity of long term planning in this field and the perspectives of the development of these organizations make necessary a special publication depicting the structure and many sided activities of such international bodies this book is the first one in which the most complete information on the main marine international organizations is presented
