in light of cultural crises such as the danish cartoon controversy and the terrorist attack on the charlie hebdo newspaper in paris christopher caldwell s incisive perspective has never been more timely or indispensable reflections on the revolution in europe is destined to become the classic work on how muslim immigration permanently reshaped the west this provocative and unflinching analysis of europe s unexpected influx of immigrants investigates the increasingly prominent muslim populations actively shaping the future of the continent muslims dominate or nearly dominate many important european cities including amsterdam and rotterdam strasbourg and marseille the paris suburbs and east london and in those cities islam has challenged the european way of life at every turn becoming in effect an adversary culture in reflections on the revolution in europe caldwell examines the anger of natives and newcomers alike he exposes the strange ways in which welfare states interact with third world customs the anti americanism that brings european natives and muslim newcomers together and the arguments over women and sex that drive them apart he considers the appeal of sharia resistance and jihad to a second generation that is more alienated from europe than the first and addresses a crisis of faith among native europeans that leaves them with a weak hand as they confront the claims of newcomers the term judeo christian in reference to a tradition heritage ethic civilization faith etc has been used in a wide variety of contexts with widely diverging meanings contrary to popular belief the term was not coined in the united states in the middle of the 20th century but in 1831 in germany by ferdinand christian baur by acknowledging and returning to this european perspective and context the volume engages the historical theological philosophical and political dimensions of the term s development scholars of european intellectual history will find this volume timely and relevant in this survey of the dutch political culture of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries piet de rooy reveals that the polder model often used to describe economic and social policymaking based on consensus is a myth instead modern political culture in the dutch low countries began with a revolution and is rife with rivalries among political and ideological factions de rooy argues that because of its extremely open economy the country is vulnerable to external political cultural and economic pressures and dutch politics is a balancing act between profiting from international developments and maintaining sovereignty the sudden rise of populism and euroscepticism at the turn of the millennium then indicated a loss of this balance shining new light on the political culture of the netherlands this book provides insights into the polder model and the principles of pillarization in dutch society the dutch edition of this book ons stipje op de wereldkaart was awarded the prinsjesboekenprijs for the best book on dutch national politics in 2014 survey of the dutch political culture of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries
