The Philosophy of "Do No Harm" Origins of the Principle

The phrase "do no harm" originates from the Hippocratic Oath, a centuries-old ethical code that guides physicians worldwide. It underscores the fundamental responsibility of healthcare providers to avoid causing injury or suffering to their patients. For Henry Marsh, this principle is not just a guideline but a deeply ingrained moral compass that influences every decision he makes.

Application in Neurosurgery

Neurosurgery is inherently high-risk, with the potential for significant complications or unintended consequences. Marsh emphasizes that surgeons must constantly weigh the benefits of intervention against the risks, striving to minimize harm while maximizing patient outcomes.

Key aspects of Marsh's application of "do no harm" include:

- Informed Consent: Ensuring patients understand the risks and benefits of procedures.
- Risk Management: Carefully selecting surgical candidates and tailoring interventions.
- Humility and Honesty: Recognizing limits and being transparent about potential outcomes.
- Postoperative Care: Providing meticulous follow-up to mitigate complications.

Balancing Risks and Benefits

One of Marsh's central themes is that medicine involves inevitable uncertainties. Sometimes, the most ethical choice is to refrain from surgery if the risks outweigh potential benefits. His writings often reflect on the importance of accepting that not all suffering can be eliminated and that good medical practice sometimes involves saying "no" or making difficult decisions.
