this book examines the extraordinary life of frank toronto prewett and the history of trauma literary expression and the power of self representation after wwi joy porter sheds new light on how the first world war affected the canadian poet and how war induced trauma or shell shock caused him to pretend to be an indigenous north american porter investigates his influence of and acceptance by some of the most significant literary figures of the time including siegfried sassoon edmund blunden wilfred owen and robert graves in doing so porter skillfully connects a number of historiographies that usually exist in isolation from one another and rarely meet by bringing together a history of the wwi era early twentieth century history native american history the history of literature and the history of class porter expertly crafts a valuable contribution to the field brilliantly wrought wonderful catling s expertise imagination and linguistic flair are well matched by his wit and enthusiasm hollow is never less than tremendous fun catling is a great and wild talent a raucous novel that thrills and unsettles in equal measure tils prose that s sprinkled with neologisms and archaisms and as crunchy and bitter cold as snow it s a high unclassifiable work and all the better for that financial times as with all the best fiction there is a terrifying inevitability about hollow let it devour you iain sinclair author of ghost milk unsettling and delightful very clever fun a sheer shuddering delight both frightening and hilarious catling is a rare kind of writer scotland on sunday from the author of the vorrh trilogy comes an epic odyssey following a group of mercenaries hired to deliver a church s ultimate power a sacred oracle as the decadence of carnival gives way to the gravity of lent and the mystic landscape grows ravenous all set within a bosch painting the history of art contains no more imaginative or mysterious paintings that the landscapes of hieronymus bosch art historians ask where the weird creatures depicted there came from and so too do the central characters of hollow as they fight their way across these landscapes and encounter these creatures author b catling is the first novelist to engage fully with bosch s vision and climb imaginatively into it in this novel it emerges that bosch gave colour and form to monsters letting them in to the real world and that they were still infesting the landscape when it was painted by bosch s follower pieter bruegel now a wild bunch of mercenaries with a mission to deliver an oracle made of cloth bones and a loud voice take a dangerous journey to the monastery at the base of the tower of babel where the most terrifying secret in the world is kept as they travel through a country painted first by bosch and then by bruegel they are confronted and seduced by monsters and see scenes painted by them these include the devil playing dice a lewd mock wedding with a dirty bride an unholy being living inside a hollow tree and riding a giant rat and creatures indulging in inter species sexual play as depicted in the garden of earthly delights a local marauding woman called mad meg with a small army of looting women from breugel s dull gret is one of this novel s stranger characters perhaps it is because b catling is himself an artist that he has been able to create a modern narrative masterpiece which brings the painterly genius of bosch and breugel alive on the page a compilation of apocryphal christian texts many translated into english for the first time with comprehensive introductions this second volume of new testament apocrypha continues the work of the first by making available to english readers more apocryphal texts twenty nine texts are featured including the adoration of the magi and the life of mary magdalene each carefully introduced copiously annotated and translated into english by eminent scholars these fascinating texts provide insights into the beliefs expressions and practices of a range of christian communities from the early centuries through late antiquity and into the medieval period for a long time scholarship has been seeking the origins of christian worship in the synagogue in this new major book margaret barker traces the roots of christian worship back to the jewish temple by proposing a temple setting a great deal more can be explained and the existing rather limited resources can be more fruitfully used by working with a great variety of sources canonical extra canonical and fathers all presented here in translation it is possible to reconstruct something of the early christian world view which shows the church as the conscious continuation of the temple worship fundamental practices such as baptism and the eucharist had temple roots and familiar words in the liturgy of the church such as maranatha and hallelujah derived from the ancient belief that the lord appeared in the temple jesus was the god of israel manifested as a the great high priest and the christians were his new angel priesthood singing the angelic liturgy to restore and renew the earth the chapters in this book cover baptism in theology and practice the eucharist with special emphasis on the symbolism of the elements the significance of music and hymns festivals and pilgrimage use of the scriptures both what the early christians used and how they read them prayers including the lord s prayer and the shape of church buildings based on a comparative study of serbia and croatia this book investigates the role of narratives in the integration process of candidate countries into the european union eu it develops an original model in order to analyse the structure and political use of narratives its novelty consists in integrating the concept of topoi and other elements of literature studies that enable a fine grained and yet still transferable approach to narratives i argue that narratives influence the conditions for possible political action by delineating the range of possible and desirable forms of behaviour this study s empirical research mainly consists of a discourse analysis of political documents including parliamentary debates political speeches and interviews with experts the author is a political scientist who pursued her phd at the bremen international graduate school of social sciences bigsss and is now working as a project manager at steinbeis europa zentrum in karlsruhe
