knowledge of and sensitivity toward diversity is an essential skill in the contemporary United States and the wider world. This book addresses the standard topics of race, ethnicity, class, and gender, but goes much further by engaging seriously with issues of language, religion, age, health, and disability, and region and geography. It also considers the intersections between and the diversities within these categories, and presents students with an unprecedented combination of history, conceptual analysis, discussion of academic literature, and up-to-date statistics. The book includes a range of illustrations, figures, and tables, text boxes, a glossary of key terms, and a comprehensive bibliography. Additional resources are provided via a companion website. Chapter 3 of this book is freely available as a downloadable open access PDF at taylorfrancis.com under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license.

In this work, the authors combine a clear narrative with active learning experiences. They invite readers to broaden their works view, enhance culturally relevant skills, understand older adults through a life course perspective, and view aging from a multi-ethnic perspective.

Most regions and countries in the world are experiencing increasingly diverse populations and labour markets, while the causes may vary, the challenges businesses face due to a heightened awareness of this diversity are often similar. Internally, organisations promote diversity and manage increasingly heterogeneous workforces, accommodate and integrate employees with different values and belief systems, and combat a range of different forms of discrimination with organisational and also societal consequences. Externally, organisations have to manage demands from government, consumer, and lobbying sources for the implementation of anti discrimination policies and laws this has generated demand for appropriate higher level teaching programmes and for more diversity focused research diversity in the workplace responds to the increasing social and political debate and interest in diversity throughout europe the contributors discuss the concept of diversity in different social and legal contexts and from the perspectives of different academic disciplines including sociology anthropology psychology philosophy and organizational theory the book includes a european view and the makings of a conceptual framework to literature on diversity that hitherto has tended to be us orientated and overwhelmingly practice focused it will stimulate fruitful exchanges of ideas about different approaches to the challenges faced by businesses and organisations of all kinds with chapters by authors involved in research into diversity issues at leading academic institutions across europe this book offers much that will interest academics researchers and higher level students as well as practitioners wanting to understand managing workforce diversity affirmative action programmes and anti discriminatory policy and practice in a wider context
