A market structure describes the competitive landscape within an industry. It's defined by factors like the number of firms, the nature of the product (identical or differentiated), the ease of entry and exit for new firms, and the extent of information available to buyers and sellers.

Key Market Structures

- Perfect Competition: This ideal model features a large number of firms selling identical products with free entry and exit, perfect information, and no market power for individual firms.
- Monopolistic Competition: Here, numerous firms offer differentiated products that are close substitutes. This creates a degree of competition but individual firms still hold some control over price.
- Oligopoly: A few dominant firms hold a significant share of the market. Products can be either identical or differentiated. Interdependence is a key feature, meaning actions by one firm can significantly impact others.
- Monopoly: A single firm dominates the entire market, facing no competition and possessing significant pricing power.
