first published in 1983 designed for first year graduates this book provides an introduction to key themes and research in sociology written by two lecturers and based on the long experience of teaching the subject the problem of sociology serves as an antidote to the conventional institutional approach to sociology and avoids the artificial fragmentation of major theories and concepts in common to so many introductory texts from this text the student is able to develop a clear understanding of what makes sociology a distinct and rigorous discipline a discipline which has evolved historically through the analysis of certain fundamental issues many of which continue to have a contemporary relevance and while introducing the student to classical theory the authors also show how these theories illuminate present social problems for most economists austrian economics refers to a distinct school of thought originating with mises and hayek and characterised by a strong commitment to free market liberalism this innovative book explores an alternative austrian tradition in economics demonstrating how the debate on the economics of socialism began in austria long before the 1930s it analyses the work and impact of many leading austrian economists through a century of austrian socialist economics originally published in 1987 this edition in 1996 sociologists on sociology is a unique and sometimes controversial account of the development disputes and the future of sociology as seen through the eyes of eleven of the world's leading sociologists at the time consisting of interviews with anthony giddens robert k merton howard becker peter townsend ralf dahrendorf peter worsley stuart hall john rex michael mann laurie taylor and ann oakley the book explores such crucial issues as the nature of deviance the scientific status of sociology the relationship of marxism and sociology the contours of race and class feminism relevance of ethnomethodology and the procedures of participant observation the contributions of such figures as goffman mills parsons weber and foucault are assessed and in clear and concise language the contributors discuss their own theoretical interests and empirical work in the field students and practitioners of the social sciences will find the book a fascinating and a uniquely direct insight into the thoughts of sociology's leading figures and a remarkable cumulative assessment of the state of the discipline itself the orient was central to the work of marx and weber both figures building their theories around the question of why modernity appeared to emerge only in the west while marx's account focused on the accumulation of capital in the west weber's explanation for this phenomenon centred on western rationalization extending recent work comparing the social theories of marx and weber this book examines their approaches to oriental societies showing how in spite of the differences in their respective theorizations of the historical and political development of the west their work on the form of modern society in the orient converges each complementing the other fully conversant with recent scholarly work on marx and weber this comprehensive re examination of the points of convergence and departure in their work requires us to re evaluate both their positions in the history of sociology and their relevance to contemporary social questions as such it will appeal to scholars of social and political theory and classical sociology metaheorizing has come of age in sociology and other social science fields forming the backdrop for serious intellectual debates over agency and structure micro and macro level analysis positivism and interpretivism modernist and postmodernist thought these debates are highlighted in this focused collection of essays on metatheory and metatheorizing contributors to this collection are among the leading figures in sociological theory and represent a wide array of theoretical camps many of the raging debates in sociological theory are carried forward within the confines of the book collectively the group points out the importance of building overarching theoretical models and suggests new directions for metatheoretical work
